Delay seen over Saxbe confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe's nomination as attorney general has drawn bipartisan support, but still unresolved is how quickly the Senate Judiciary Committee will act on it.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., was among committee members who said Thursday that priority should be given to legislation providing for a court-appointed special Watergate prosecutor.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., also said the committee should take up the nomination only after "we get the prosecutor legislation moving." Bayh said, however, "Bill Saxbe will make a good attorney general."

The White House coupled Saxbe's designation Thursday with appointment of Leon Jaworski as special prosecutor.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott and other GOP committee members indicated they wanted prompt hearings on Saxbe's nomination.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., who has said he is confident of Saxbe's confirmation by the Senate, left for home without leaving word on what his plans are.

Meanwhile, questions were raised about Saxbe's eligibility to become attorney general because the salary for that position was raised during Saxbe's Senate term.

A provision of the Constitution says no member of Congress can be appointed to any civil office during his term if the salary of the office is increased in that period.

Horace Webb, a spokesman for the Justice Department, said acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork believes "remedial legislation can resolve the problem and such legislation will be sent forward with Mr. Saxbe's nomination."

Tunney told newsmen he was "not saying we should hold Saxbe's nomination hostage" to passage of the bill to provide for a special prosecutor who could not be dismissed by President Nixon.

Similarly, Bayh said, "I don't like legislative blackmail." But he was among committee Democrats who contended prompt legislative action was made more urgent than ever by the appointment of Jaworski to replace Archibald Cox as the special prosecutor.

Gilligan ponders Saxbe successor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan says he'll consult Ohio's Democrats and other public and political figures before deciding on a successor to U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio.

Gilligan said Thursday that he won't make his choice known until the Senate confirms Saxbe's appointment as U.S. attorney general.

Gilligan said there's one certainty about the appointment — he won't name himself to the position. Saxbe defeated Gilligan in the 1968 Senate election.

Millionaire Cleveland businessman Howard Metzenbaum appeared the frontrunner for the job, though neither Gilligan nor the 1972 Democratic nominee for the Senate could comment on the prospect.

Metzenbaum said he's leaving the choice up to the governor. "I don't think there's anything that I could talk to him about that could either add to or detract from his own conclusions," he said.

The 54-year-old Metzenbaum narrowly lost the 1972 race to U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

Metzenbaum is a one-time state legislator who made a fortune in airport parking lots. He publishes a suburban newspaper.

Former astronaut John Glenn, popular among Democratic leaders in small and medium-sized counties, is another possibility for the job.

Glenn dropped out of the 1964 Senate race after a bathroom accident, and lost to Metzenbaum in the 1972 primary.

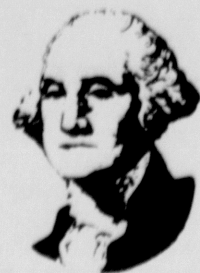

He has been at odds with Gilligan and the state Democratic organization,

Jobless rate falls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took a sharp and surprising downward turn last month, falling to 4.5 per cent of the work force, the lowest jobless rate since March 1970, the government said today.

The unemployment rate matched the predictions of the Nixon administration, which had forecast earlier this year the jobless rate would drop to 4.5 per cent by the end of the year. The unemployment rate had remained stuck at 4.8 per cent since June.

Arctic cold, more snow pound U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arctic cold gripped the northern Rockies today as an autumn storm packing heavy snow spilled across the Great Plains.

Temperatures plunged to the mid teens and lower in Montana, where up to a foot of snow fell Wednesday night and Thursday.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for the mountains and northeastern Colorado where 4 to 6 inches were expected. A cold-wave warning also was in effect for parts of the state.

The storm diminished over Montana and Wyoming where 10 to 12 inches were common Thursday.

The snow extended into the Plains as far east as Minnesota and southeastern Nebraska. Two inches of new snow whitened Dickinson, N.D., and an inch dusted Denver.

Temperatures slid into the 30s at Dodge City, Kan., after reaching a high of 83 Thursday.

Elsewhere, light rain sprinkled areas from Iowa to Michigan and parts of Maine. Snow flurries whirled over northwestern Pennsylvania.

complainings they were backing Metzenbaum as the party's nominee to succeed Saxbe in 1974.

Saxbe announced last month he would not seek re-election.

Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank King has also been mentioned as an interim choice for the Senate seat, primarily because it could help Gilligan heal any breach with organized labor.

Gilligan was insistent the Senate appointment would go to someone other than himself.

"Beyond that, I have no intention of speculating on any of the possible successors to Sen. Saxbe. There is nothing to be gained from such speculation.

"I hope to reach a decision in time to act quickly to fill the vacancy once it legally exists," he added.

Probe deeper into Nixon Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Watergate prosecutor said in court today many questions remain to be answered about White House claims two tape recordings don't exist, but a presidential lawyer said that apparent discrepancies could be easily explained.

The prosecutor, Richard Ben Veniste, said he intended to call at least eight present and former Nixon administration officials, including former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, to testify about the White House's claim that two crucial Watergate conversations went unrecorded.

Ben Veniste said that two days of testimony by White House witnesses "raised many questions which still have to be answered."

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica indicated a full-blown hearing was on tap and denied a request by White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt to delay proceedings until Monday.

"It is the desire and aim of this court to get all the information," Sirica said. He said he saw no reason why testimony could not continue today.

Ben Veniste opened the day's court session by detailing discrepancies and questions he said had been raised in earlier testimony.

Emergency action developing

Fuel shortage gets worse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with a worsening of the fuel shortage, a key senator and the White House energy adviser have agreed to act "without delay" on an emergency plan.

Senate Interior Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson said he and White House adviser John A. Love agreed on quick action because "the crisis is much worse than all of us anticipated a week ago."

The two met after a reassessment of the effect of the ban by nine Arab nations on oil shipments to the United States. Recent figures more than doubled previous estimates of the loss in oil imports, Jackson said.

"There'll be a lot of things turned off the moment that last ship comes in," the Washington Democrat said.

Jackson has introduced legislation to deal with the fuel shortage. However, the administration disagrees with several provisions.

There were these other developments on the fuel shortage:

—Auto travel became more expensive in many areas of the country, with price increases of as much as three cents a gallon at some gas stations.

Phillips Petroleum Co., citing increased costs of foreign crude oil, raised its wholesale prices by three cents a gallon for gasoline and heating oil. Sun, Union and Skelly oil companies announced price hikes of one cent per gallon. Dealers immediately began to pass the increases on to the consumer.

—A number of airlines diminished the number of flights. The nation's three largest airlines — American, Trans World and United — dropped 80

Automobile price hikes on horizon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two major auto makers, Chrysler and American Motors, have filed for new price increases for their 1974 models. If approved by the Cost of Living Council, the increases would be the second round of auto price hikes this year.

The American Motors increase would average $114 per model and the Chrysler increase, $63.25 per model.

Unless the council blocks them, the price hikes for American Motors cars would take effect Nov. 30 and for Chrysler cars Dec. 1 under the mandatory 30-day waiting period of the Phase 4 anti-inflation program.

Neither Ford nor General Motors have filed for new price increases. All four major U.S. automakers were granted increases by the council Sept. 7 for 1974 models.

Council officials had no immediate comment on the new increases. But it appeared the proposed hikes do not fit the guidelines the council set for auto price increases in late September.

Council Director John T. Dunlop said then that the council would delay consideration of any further price increases in the auto industry until their wage negotiations were completed.

Chrysler now has completed a wage agreement with the United Auto Workers, but the council has not yet said whether it falls within its wage guidelines.

Also, the council had indicated it wanted Ford and General Motors to complete their wage agreement before acting on new price hikes from any of the auto makers.

before President Nixon's crucial conversation on April 15, 1973 with his then-counsel, John W. Dean III. Ben Veniste said there has been no explanation as to who wrote that notation or if a "Part Two" tape exists for that day.

The April 15 conversation is one of two the White House says went unrecorded. In it, Dean has testified, Nixon indicated complicity in the Watergate cover-up.

Impeachment polls bring mixed response

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three public opinion polls conducted since the firing of the Watergate special prosecutor have produced sharply differing accounts of national attitudes on the issue of whether President Nixon should be impeached.

The contrasting results raise anew questions about the impact and accuracy of such surveys.

A telephone survey by the Oliver Quayle organization Oct. 20 reported 44 per cent favoring impeachment. The nationwide poll was conducted among 947 persons 24 hours after President Nixon fired Archibald Cox.

Quayle said 43 per cent opposed impeachment and 13 per cent were undecided.

A George Gallup poll taken last weekend, after Nixon agreed to surrender secret White House tapes flights to conserve fuel. Other cuts were announced by Delta, North Central, Piedmont, Continental, Frontier, Eastern and Northwest Orient.

All of the airlines said they were cutting back on "lowload" flights, which are not heavily traveled.

—Canada, the United States' top source of foreign oil, said it is raising its federal export tax on crude oil by almost 400 per cent.

The tax will increase from 40 cents a barrel to $1.90 a barrel, effective Dec. 1. The current price of Canadian crude is $4.20 a barrel at the Alberta wellhead, and Canadian Energy Minister Donald Macdonald said if that rises, the export tax will be reduced a like amount to keep the export price constant.

The United States is currently importing just over a million barrels a day of crude oil from Canada.

—The Defense Department was given special priority to buy U.S. domestic petroleum ahead of other customers, adding further pressure to supplies. About half of Defense Department fuel needs are purchased from abroad, the government said, adding that Defense cannot rely on

F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, a conference committee member and sponsor of the Democratic House bill, said he thinks the legislature can find "temporary language" to bring 1974 elections under the law's provisions.

Another conferee, Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, said he thinks there is a chance that the lawmakers can yet enact an emergency bill. But he added that it depends "on whether the governor is willing to compromise on some of the key issues—one of which is the freedom of choice provision in the (GOP) Senate version."

House Speaker A.G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, virtually conceded there can be no agreement by next Wednesday, the deadline for a 90-day bill that would be in effect when candidates file in February for 1974 primary elections.

"If we can't get an agreement by Tuesday, I'll give up on a 90-day bill," he said. The conference committee looking at separate Democratic and Republican versions doesn't meet again until 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, who called the special session Oct. 23, had said he wanted new legislation in time for next year's elections to help curb mounting public skepticism over campaigns and politicians.

The only way this now can be accomplished is for the lawmakers to enact an immediately-effective emergency bill. That would take a two-thirds vote on an issue that has even caused internal bickering within the two major parties.

One other option remains open. The special session could stay on and pass a law that would take effect sometime after the filing deadline. Rep. Richard

Aged widow helped others; found beaten and strangled

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Marion Razete, a 67-year-old widow who was an epileptic and feared living alone, opened her house to human strays of all ages and races.

Thursday she was found dead in her North Miami house. She had been beaten and strangled. Her body was discovered by a young Vietnam veteran she invited home after he tried to panhandle a quarter from her.

Police said they are seeking two long-haired young drifters who accepted Mrs. Razete's hospitality a few days ago.

But a Secret Service technician who minded the tapes said that on other occasions when tapes ran out, he sometimes wrote "tape ran out" on the back of the box. Ben Veniste said the notation "Full" could be read two ways, either that the tape had run out or that it had almost run out.

and then explained his actions at a news conference, was markedly different.

Conducted by telephone among 623 persons nationwide, the Gallup poll found 28 per cent favoring impeachment, while 55 per cent were opposed. Undecideds were 17 per cent.

A Lou Harris poll released Wednesday found 63 per cent favoring Nixon's resignation or impeachment if the tapes produce evidence showing the President was involved in the Watergate cover-up. Twenty-three per cent didn't favor such action.

Harris gathered the results through telephone interviews with 1,000 persons nationwide.

The contrasts in the three polls raise questions about their use by officials in conducting national affairs. "I've never believed that public opinion ought to be taken as a mandate by government officials. The Constitution in part serves to protect us from public opinion," said Dr. Angus Campbell, director of the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan.

"I think there is an unfortunate developing tendency to look at polls as an instant plebiscite, which they never were meant to be," said Dr. Harold Mendelsohn of the University of Denver, president of the American Association for Public Opinion Research.

White House officials have declined to say what role, if any, the Quayle poll, had on the decision to release the tapes.

They acknowledged that presidential aides were aware of the survey.

Quayle speculated about what his poll meant during an Oct. 23. television program. His appearance came just hours before Nixon made the final decision to reverse his tapes stand.

Quayle said Nixon was in deep trouble politically and that the pollster had never before seen so dramatic a public-opinion shift favoring impeachment.

Critics argue that quick polls conducted amid fast-breaking events sample public opinion formed from only partial information.

"The Quayle poll was based on such partial information," Mendelsohn said. "At the moment it might have represented some reality in terms of a very fast reaction to a fast-breaking event."

"But the time element is terribly important. This might be only a temporary thing or it might be more deep-seated," he said.

Love and Jackson both said the administration has to be "ready to invoke rationing as necessary," though neither would predict whether it would be necessary.

Rain, sun clear up sootiness

It appears that one of the most baffling mysteries in Washington C. H. history may be taking care of itself.

City Manager Dan Wolford said today that most of a black colored substance that covered some 20 dwellings on the city's east side last week had been either washed away by recent rains or burned off by the sun. Wolford said some homes now show no trace of the mysterious substance.

Portions of many of the homes involved in the dirty mystery turned black overnight. Most brick and aluminum homes were not affected, but houses with wood siding were, in some instances, covered with the sooty substance.

The homes affected were near the city's sewage treatment plant and a fertilizer plant. However, the city administration had reports of some homes as far as two miles away reportedly covered with a dingy substance, but to a lesser degree than those houses on the East Side.

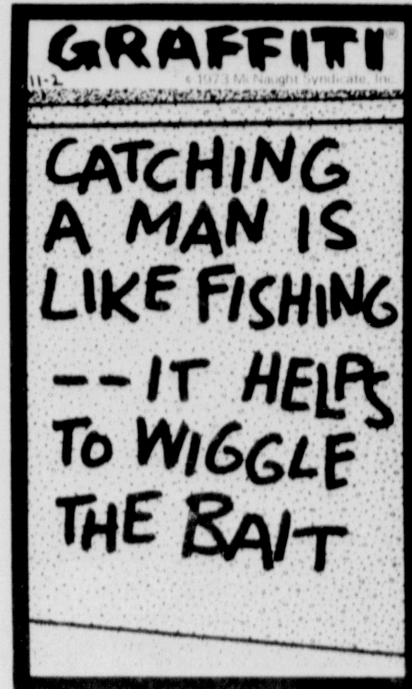

WOLFORD SAID, a representative from the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency office in Dayton told Orville Dixon, the city's superintendent of waste water and treatment facilities, that it would be almost a waste of time to dispatch an EPA mobile pollution laboratory unit here.

The atmospheric and exact weather conditions of last Wednesday night and Thursday morning, when the substances first appeared, cannot be duplicated, the EPA representative pointed out.

Many residents reported a strong odor which they believed originated from the sewage treatment plant. But, the EPA representative, after checking the plant with Dixon, said he did not believe the plant was at fault.

Samples of the substance were taken from the homes in the area by Wittenberg University students at Springfield. The samples will be studied in the school's chemistry and biology laboratories in an effort to identify the substance.

Wolford pointed out that in the instances where the substance has disappeared no permanent damage has resulted to the homes.

JEFFERSONVILLE — Plans for the annual Christmas party were discussed at the Marshall Grange meeting Thursday night, but no date was set and most of the details were left for a committee to work out. The party will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon and will include a $1 gift exchange.

This meeting was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan.

Ohio food price variance studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Why should milk cost four cents more per quart in Athens than in Cleveland, while peanut butter is four cents higher in Cleveland than in Athens?

Even the experts can't say. An Associated Press survey showed no particular patterns between the lowest and highest prices in Ohio.

But a check of four items in 11 communities showed Cleveland coming out ahead on three of them.

Ground chuck was selling for $1.09 a pound in Cleveland, compared to $1.39 in Toledo, Van Wert and Youngstown.

The price of a dozen medium size eggs in Cleveland was 65 cents, but 85 cents in Portsmouth, 87 cents in Lima, 79 cents in Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Athens and Van Wert.

A quart of whole milk cost 39 cents in Cleveland, the same as in Youngstown and Lima, but under its 45-cent cost in Toledo, 43 cents in Athens, 42 cents in Cincinnati and Dayton, and 41 cents in Portsmouth.

A 12-ounce jar of peanut butter sold for 53 cents in Cleveland, against 45 cents in Conneaut and 49 cents in Athens, Youngstown and Massillon.

The Ohio prices were higher on two items and lower on the other two than the national average, based on surveys in 13 cities coast-to-coast.

The average price in Ohio of a pound of ground chuck was $1.31, compared to $1.17 nationally. For a quart of milk, the Ohio average was 41 cents against the national average of 40 cents.

But the average Ohio price for a dozen eggs was less than the national average—77 cents against 79 cents. And Ohio shaded the national average on peanut butter—52 cents against 56 cents.

Prices of food in Ohio were a mixed bag the farther a marketbasket list extended. Add four more selected items — center-cut pork chops, butter,

Jeff water situation eases, but no sewers

JEFFERSONVILLE—Jeffersonville now has water again, but the village is still without the use of the sewer system and treatment plant that was installed over the last year.

This, in a nutshell, was the situation that took up virtually the entire session of the Village Council Thursday night.

The No. 1 well, which had been the principal source of supply until last week, has been cleaned of nearly 20 feet accumulation of sand and earth and is now producing 115 gallons a minute, an increase from 8 gallons a minute during the eight days the village was supplied by a private well on the Dinkler Plastics property.

The village has three other wells and has started drilling a fifth near the swimming pool west of the village. The No. 2 well is producing about 35 gallons a minute to supplement the flow from the No. 1 well. The No. 3 and No. 4 wells are producing less than 12 gallons a day each. Mayor Donald M. Morrow said the supply now (from No. 1 and No. 2 wells) is adequate—for the time being and unless more complications arise.

COUNCIL turned from the water situation to the sewer system, which has not yet been put to use. All segments of the system are to be inspected this week before the engineers of the contractors, the village engineer, Schirtzing & Associates, of Chillicothe, the village service director, Lindy Sharrett, and an engineer of the federal Farmers Home Administration meet with Council at 7 p.m. next Thursday. If all segments of the sewer system pass inspection, Mayor Morrow said steps will be taken by Council to complete the settlement. If they are not, he pointed out, a penalty of $80 a day could be assessed.

Council was told that the sewer lines installed in the eastern section and business district by Contract Service Co. probably will pass inspection, but

Ford believes impeachment hearings should continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the House should go ahead with its investigation to determine whether President Nixon should be impeached.

The Michigan congressman said he doubts there are grounds for impeachment, but conceded the basis for such action can be anything a majority of the House considers it to be.

"The House of Representatives should proceed with consideration of impeachment to help clear the air," Ford told the Senate Rules Committee Thursday as the panel opened hearings into his nomination to succeed Spiro T. Agnew as vice president.

The public hearings will resume Monday with more testimony from Ford and from members of Congress, who generally have praised the selection of Ford, a House member for 25 years and Republican leader for nine.

In four hours of testimony, Ford: —Said it might have been better had the White House disclosed earlier that two of the nine tapes subpoenaed in the Watergate investigation did not exist. The disclosure was made Wednesday.

—Said that on issues of executive privilege, a president should seek a balance between confidentiality and the public's right to know.

—Denied being a conduit for dairy-industry contributions to members of Congress.

—Denounced as lies allegations by former lobbyist Robert N. Winter-Berger's that Winter-Berger gave Ford $15,000 to pay Mrs. Ford's medical bills.

a brand name detergent and alibeeff frankfurters.

Cleveland's edge in lower prices didn't hold up with these four items. Conneaut came in with the lowest price for a pound of center-cut pork chops at $1.09, with Van Wert second at $1.29. Cleveland ran third at $1.34, well ahead of Toledo's $1.79, Portsmouth's and Athens' $1.73 and $1.59 at Columbus.

But, only Massillon showed a lower butter price per pound than Cleveland at 79 cents. Cleveland and Van Wert showed 93 cents, compared to $1.09 at Conneaut and $1.05 at Columbus. Toledo, Lima and Athens showed 99 cents.

Lima and Toledo weighed in lowest for the detergent at 79 cents, with Portsmouth the most expensive at $1.09.

Julie says Dad believes press critics too vocal

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower said today her father, President Nixon, wants to cooperate with the news media but that his statements are never given the exposure received by those of his critics.

"I think he wants to work along with the press," Mrs. Eisenhower said on the NBC-TV "Today" program. "His point was that so many times the press has played the critics' side so much louder than his."

In the coverage of Watergate and related developments, she said, "what bothered me most was any suggestion that my parents aren't honest."

"This really bothers my father very greatly — that the charges are repeated and repeated, and when they are set straight they're not given the same play."

that the lines in the western section of town installed by Coates Brothers and the treatment plant by Dennison Construction Co. probably will have some more work done before they are approved.

Council also was told by the mayor that the paving of Railroad Street, which has been practically rebuilt, should be completed by Nov. 9.

He also said cards on which complaints, especially those related to the sewer system construction, have been given to village residents and reminded that those with complaints should fill out the cards and get them to Sharrett before next Thursday.

Routine bills were approved with very little discussion.

Mobile home probe set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Commercial Director Dennis Shaul announced today a public hearing Nov. 14-15 to look into what he called "massive problems" in the mobile home industry.

Shaul said in a statement he'll subpoena mobile home dealers and manufacturers to answer questions from dissatisfied consumers.

"The consumer protection division of the Commerce Department has received hundreds of complaints from mobile home owners in this state," Shaul said.

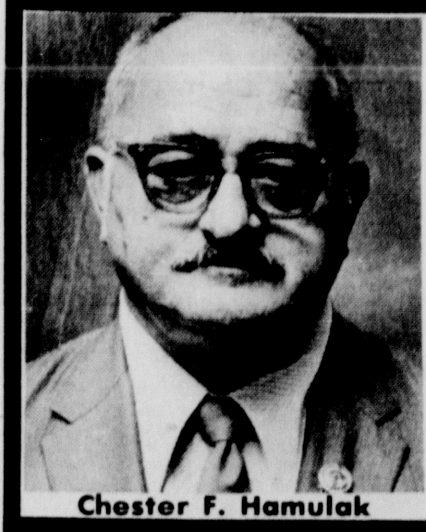

"These complaints include horror stories of manufacturing defects which threaten families' health and safety," he said. "In addition, we have evidence of numerous deceptions in the sales techniques used by mobile home dealers including misrepresentations of the model year, the warranty terms, and the actual price of a financed home."

Shaul said the hearings may lead to stricter regulation of the mobile home industry.

—Repeated that he will not be a candidate for any political office in 1976.

In his opening statement and at several points during the hearing, Ford said he wants to "be a ready conciliator and calm communicator between the White House and Capitol Hill, between the re-election mandate of the Republican President and the equally emphatic mandate of the Democratic 93rd Congress."

Ford expressed the hope that "some of the damage" caused by Nixon's handling of the Watergate case can be repaired by the choice of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, for attorney general and Leon Jaworski for Watergate prosecutor as well as the surrender of Watergate tapes.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William B. Saxbe, the attorney general designate, says he will have to look at the evidence before deciding if a federal grand jury investigation of the Kent State University shootings is warranted.

"I want to look at the evidence and then decide what to do," Saxbe said Thursday.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association said today 250 new money requests by local schools will be on Ohio's general election ballot Tuesday.

The total includes 96 bond issues, 150 requests for additional operating funds and four combination levies. The bond issues ask a total of about $224 million for capital improvements.

In addition, 74 renewals of existing levies are up for approval, the OEA said.

45 no. 4 ital newsmen left

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, here for a weekend stay, left Washington without taking any newsmen or photographers with him. It was the first time that has happened in his administration.

Watergate case

Service Technician Raymond C. Zumwalt had changed his testimony about why two days of presidential conversations were recorded on a single machine with only a six-hour supply of tape. At first, Zumwalt said, a switcher had failed to turn on a second machine for the April 15 date. Later, he said, he remembered that the switcher hadn't been set to operate that day because it was on a weekend.

—A White House archivist testified that the official diary of President Nixon's minute-by-minute whereabouts on April 15 was revised after more than three months, on July 26, the same date Watergate prosecutors subpoenaed nine White House tapes and related documents. The archivist, John Nesbitt, said this was only a coincidence. But Ben Veniste said it raised another question about the reliability of White House evidence.

In other related developments Thursday:

—The President's new special prosecutor, Houston lawyer Leon Jaworski, said he has been given enough independence to satisfy him. "Conditions I believed would enable me to do the job as it should be done have been met," he said. The President has said he will not surrender presidential papers and tape recordings except for those he already has agreed to give to Sirica.

—Nixon's choice to be vice president, Rep. Gerald R. Ford, gave the President some lowkey criticism for failing to say sooner that two Watergate tapes never existed. "My immediate reaction is that it might have been much more helpful if the information had been made available at an earlier date," Ford said at his Senate confirmation hearings.

—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Nixon's credibility "has reached an all-time low from which he may not be able to recover." He again urged Nixon to testify before the Senate Watergate committee. "I feel now more than ever that this may offer the only way out," he said.

—The committee, meanwhile, heard Nixon's former campaign director, Clark MacGregor, testify that he had been used and deceived by Dean and former campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder. MacGregor also suggested Nixon should submit to questioning, but only by the Watergate committee's two ranking members.

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened slightly lower again today, extending their decline into a fifth consecutive day.

Declining issues led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by a small margin.

Analysts said concern over the situation in the Mideast and Watergate were major factors in the softness, as well as worries over a possible economic downturn. The government recently reported a downturn in new factory orders for September.

Profit taking was another factor, brokers said, noting that despite the sharp declines of this week, the Dow Jones industrial average had risen some 133 points from its August lows to its highs of last Friday.

On Thursday, the Dow fell 7.75 to 948.83, bringing the indicator's decline so far this week to over 38 points.

Occasional rain is expected to continue across the state tonight and Saturday as another low moves out of the southwest.

Cooler air will move south into Ohio tonight and Saturday in the wake of the first low.

The extended forecast calls for continued cool weather with a chance of rain or snow through Tuesday.

PLANT CLOSED — Financial difficulties have forced the closing of Dinkler Plastics, Inc., Jeffersonville. The plant had employed approximately 40 persons. President Charles Dinkler is pictured outside the building.

Seek to reopen Jeff plant

JEFFERSONVILLE — Dinkler Plastics, Inc., located in Jeffersonville the past 2½ years, has been closed because of financial difficulties since Sept. 10.

Charles Dinkler, president, met with members of the Jeffersonville Chamber of Commerce Thursday concerning an effort that is being made to continue operations at the plant.

The Ohio Economic Development Agency, Columbus, had contacted Gordon McCarty, president of the Jeffersonville Chamber of Commerce, and informed him that funds would be available with the support of area banking institutions and the Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber members agreed that an effort should be made to keep the plastics plant in operation since it employed approximately 36-40 persons from the Jeffersonville area.

The custom injection molding plant is located at the southeast corner of Boyer Lane and Ohio 41, just north of the village.

Dinkler Plastics started production in April of 1968 in the old Stewart and Cross Hardware Co. garage at New Holland. When the factory opened it had a total employment of nine persons.

Dinkler Plastics produced all types of injection molded parts, and had finishing facilities for the plastics industries.

Dinkler is a native of New Holland and has been associated with the plastics industry for 15 years. He left the position of head tooling engineer for American Plastics, a division of Swedish Crucible Steel in Detroit, to form and become president of Dinkler Plastics.

A well located at the plastics factory supplied water to residents of Jeffersonville for more than eight days during a recent water shortage crisis.

Criminal costs money received

Fayette County received a total of $939.66 in criminal costs subsidies during fiscal 1973, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson announced today.

The state pays on a monthly basis for the successful prosecution and imprisonment of indigent persons convicted of felony crimes under the criminal cost subsidy program. The money is appropriated by the legislature to the auditor's office for this purpose.

Other surrounding counties and their payments were Clinton, $1,686.45; Greene, $19,270.53; Highland, $1,803.10; Madison, $4,700.42; Pickaway, $5,662.35, and Ross, $11,016.57.

Gilligan maintains neutrality

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan refused to pose for a photograph with Senate hopeful Howard M. Metzenbaum at a campaign luncheon Thursday, but apparently there were no hard feelings.

Gilligan said he was trying to steer a neutral course in the selection of a replacement for Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who was nominated to become U.S. attorney general Thursday.

Metzenbaum is regarded as the front-runner for the seat, but other candidates, including former astronaut John Glenn Jr., also have expressed interest.

Metzenbaum and Gilligan bumped into each other at a campaign luncheon for Cleveland mayoral candidate Mercedes Cotner, also a Democrat. Metzenbaum left a few minutes after Gilligan declined an invitation to pose together.

Later he confided he left "because I did not want to embarrass the governor."

Gilligan said he refused the photographer because "I just don't want speculation to begin he is my choice." But he said he wasn't angry. "I'm not irritated at anyone," he said.

Glenn still set to run

WILLOUGHBY HILLS, Ohio (AP)— Former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. says he will be a candidate for the U.S. Senate next year regardless of whether he is appointed to succeed Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio.

"I feel I could beat the incumbent," he said.

It's hard to explain

Reports over the past few weeks have provided one of the more intriguing chapters in the Unidentified Flying Object saga. Stories about alleged UFO sightings generally tend to be somewhat vague. Some of the current stories are, by contrast, quite explicit.

The most notable instance of this is the report from Pascagoula, Miss., where two shipyard workers claim that while fishing they not only saw a strange craft but were taken inside it and examined by its rather odd occupants. No fuzzy descriptions: it was, they say a blue, oblong craft which hovered over the water and disgorged three reddish creatures with claw-like appendages and wrinkled skin. It was these three who allegedly escorted the fishermen into the craft.

None of the other recent reports some of them emanating from Fayette County residents, is quite that well fleshed out with detail. Nor is there in other cases the sort of confirmatory evidence we have here - examination under hypnosis by two scientists. Still, quite a number of apparently sober people in various parts of the country have lately claimed sightings - not just flashes, but prolonged sightings - of things hard to explain away as natural phenomena or Flight 709 from Pittsburgh.

Various possibilities come to mind. Perhaps people's senses are simply deceiving them. Perhaps some of them are deliberately making up yarns. Perhaps subconscious reservoirs of imagination are being drawn upon.

Or perhaps - well, perhaps something inexplicable within our usual frames of reference is going on. That's the interesting thing about it: No one really knows.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by Bayard Rustin

Importance of Israel's survival

EDITOR'S NOTE: Columnist John P. Roche is traveling. Today's guest column if by Bayard Rustin, a distinguished leader of the civil rights movement and executive director of the Randolph Institute.

The renewal of the Middle East war, with its fearful human cost, has driven a knife wound deep into the soul of a world which longs for peace. Its reverberations, spreading like an exploding mortar shell, are felt around the globe by all who value justice and humanity. Most horrible is the waste of young lives—the best and bravest of the warring nations.

With the resumption of hostilities, there is a compelling impulse to blind oneself to the implications of this conflict. Many Americans have already succumbed to indifference or indecision: recent polls indicate that roughly one out of two either does not care about the outcome, or cannot summon the will to choose between the two sides.

Many blacks, confronted with profound injustice here at home, may wonder about the significance of a war which rages thousands of miles away. They ask how does the outcome of this distant conflict affect their weary, centuries-old struggle for freedom and equality?

But it is precisely because blacks have survived despite hundreds of years of oppression, and persist to day in the face of the continuing destructiveness of prejudice, that they cannot now turn away from other, equally oppressed peoples.

BOTH JEWS AND BLACKS respect and have a personal stake in the spread of democracy. Surrounded by the autocratic, despotic countries of the Middle East, Israel alone adheres to the democratic principles that are a precondition to freedom.

Israel, as a progressive and democratic nation, is the ultimate reflection of traditions which run throughout Jewish history and culture. Wherever Jews are, they stand firm for the extension of human rights for all people.

During the period following the end of Reconstruction, when America turned aside from the plight of the freedman,

Jews gave invaluable assistance to the Negro struggle. When the South was doing its best to keep the black man illiterate, the Rosenwald family established a fund which salvaged the Negro college system. And in the early years of this century, when the black cause was not a popular cause, Jewish liberals, like Joel and Arthur Spingarn, helped establish the NAACP and were instrumental in ensuring its survival during its most difficult years.

At a later era, Jews provided critical financial support for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. during his protest campaigns: two-thirds of the money donated to a defense fund—established when Dr. King was falsely accused of income tax evasion—were contributed by Jews. And who can forget that two Jewish youths, Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, died arm in arm with James Chaney in the backlands of Mississippi?

IN ADDITION to dramatizing the moral kinship between blacks and Jews, the Middle East crisis is important for what it implies about the lasting nature of prejudice.

Six million Jews were annihilated during World War II for no other reason than they were Jews. And yet this painful, tragic lesson has not been sufficient to convince mankind of racial and religious hatred. Today anti-Semitism persists in the hearts of many men and many countries, awaiting the opportunity to rise to the surface disguised as anti-Zionism.

Blacks well understand that where anti-Semitism exists, racial prejudice ultimately follows. Thus it is little surprising that the most determined opponent of American aid to Israel is Sen. J.W. Fulbright, who during a lengthy political career has voted against, and spoken against, and filibustered against the cause of civil rights.

Hardly anyone ever used the word environment, and only a few college professors knew what the word ecology meant. And children in a large family had their little wars and truces without ever realizing they were engaging anything so awesome-sounding as sibling rivalry.

Chief veterinarian studies horse deaths

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chief veterinarian for Ohio says the possibility of foul play in the deaths recently of seven horses in Stark County is being investigated.

Dr. Harry Goldstein said Thursday that laboratory tests "have practically eliminated the possibility of any infectious disease" as the cause.

He said lumps were found on the carcasses of the animals from "some sort of injection." But Goldstein said it hasn't been determined yet whether "malicious intent" is behind the deaths.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She's boiling over her husband's lunch break

DEAR ABBY: We just moved to a place that's close enough to my husband's job for him to come home for lunch every day, and that's my problem.

I don't want to sound like a selfish wife, but, Abby, having George home for lunch every day has upset my whole routine.

For years I've given my family (four school-age children) a good hot breakfast every morning, and I never saw them again until the kids came home from school, and George came home for supper. Now, here comes George home for lunch every day! It cuts in to my day something terrible. He's not the kind of man who can get his own lunch. I have to prepare it and serve it to him. (A little "snack" won't do for him. He likes a MEAL at noon.) Also, he gets amorous when we're home alone, but that's another letter.

I feel guilty just writing this, but I need some advice.

Should I come right out and tell George to buy his lunch?

DAY RUINED

DEAR RUINED: Tell George you married him for better or worse-but not for lunch. A lot of women would welcome your problem, but since you feel otherwise, honesty is still the best policy. So level with George, and hope for a fair compromise.

DEAR ABBY: About that Jewish girl who was selected to represent her county at a horse show, which happened to fall on the Jewish High Holy Days: Even if the girl can't participate on a Jewish holiday, why not let the horse participate with another rider? Surely the horse isn't Jewish. Half the team is better than none.

A.C. IN RIO RANCHO, N.M.

DEAR A.C.: Maybe so, but another reader suggested that scheduling an important sports event on a Jewish holiday was thoughtless and inconsiderate. "In fact," he said, "it was downright UNCHRISTIAN!"

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law, who lives with us, told my husband that spotted eggs are not fit for human consumption, so now my husband insists that I go through dozens of cartons in the supermarket to make up a box that doesn't contain a spotted egg. If my mother in law finds a spotted egg, she disposes of it in the garbage.

I feel embarrassed rearranging cartons of eggs in the supermarket. Personally, I don't think there is anything wrong with spotted eggs, but would appreciate an expert's opinion.

H. IN AURORA

DEAR H.: I am not eggactly an expert on this subject, but Dr. Hamre at the University of Minnesota is, and he said: "Spotted eggs are just as fit for human consumption as any other eggs." So, since the price of eggs these days is no "yoke," tell your mother in law she's mistaken.

DEAR ABBY: When I was growing up, a child who was born "prematurely," was referred to as a "love child"—and was usually prettier and smarter than the other children. PRETTY AND SMART IN S.F.

Moses Avenges a Wrong

And he spied an Egyptian smiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren . . . and he slew the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. —Exodus II: 11-12

For all of his life Moses acted as a defender of the underprivileged—a trait which was first revealed in his early youth. At that time, as he walked one day, seeking the companionship of his fellowmen and wishing, if possible, to lighten some of their burdens, he came upon an Egyptian who was beating a young Hebrew unmercifully. Understandably wroth, he slew the assailant and buried his body in the sand. The following day, coming upon two of his brethren who he learned were fellow conspirators of the Egyptian, he admonished them severely. They berated Moses, saying "Who made thee a judge over us?" then reported him to Pharaoh. Pharaoh ordered Moses slain but he fled the land.

Pork output indicator still low

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An economic indicator that shows how hog producers are getting along continues to hang below levels livestock experts say are necessary to stimulate the nation's pork output.

The indicator is the monthly hog-corn ratio computed by the Agriculture Department. As of Oct. 15, the ratio was 18.8 nationally, indicating the amount of corn in bushels equal in value to 100 pounds of live market hogs. According to USDA livestock economists, the ratio traditionally has had to be at 20 or more for a sustained period before producers are encouraged to step up hog output.

Basically, the ideal situation is for corn to be relatively inexpensive and hog prices skyhigh — at least from the hog producer's viewpoint. There are many other factors, too, but the price relationship between market hogs and corn is a big one.

The old theories about the corn-hog ratio have not held up well the past year. For example, the ratio at Omaha, Neb., for the year beginning in June 1972 averaged more than the 20-to-1 level historically proclaimed by economists as a trigger for a big surge in hog production.

The ratio at Omaha has dropped below that in most months since last spring. That included a period when government price curbs were on retail and wholesale meat, and during a time of tremendous price fluctuation in the grain and feed markets.

A recent livestock and meat situation report noted the earlier corn-hog ratio running at the 20-to-1 level and commented:

"But instead of expansion, production has continued to decline in 1973, and only recently has there been indications of some stability. Thus, factors other than the relationship between hog and corn prices have become increasingly important considerations in producers' planning processes."

The ups and downs of hog prices since last summer have not helped restore confidence to hog producers who think hard about investing the large capital needed to expand a modern farrowing or feeding operation.

As of Oct. 15, the department said Wednesday, hog prices nationally averaged $40.80 per hundredweight. In any other past year that would mean visions of wealth to many hog producers.

But the October price was down sharply from the record high of $56.50 in August and from $43.80 in September. Corn dropped from $2.68 in August to $2.15 per bushel in September. But the October price, just as the new harvest was beginning to roll, was up slightly to $2.17 per bushel.

A year earlier, corn brought farmers $1.19 per bushel and hogs $27.40 per hundredweight.

Ohio Perspective

Solons skeptical of special meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Many if not most members of the legislature were skeptical about being called into special session to act on political campaign finance reforms.

One who didn't hesitate to say so, Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, said the session was prompted by scandals at the national level and not because of widespread abuse in Ohio.

"We're a reactionary legislature," Sweeney complained to members of the House State Government Committee which labored long and hard over a series of complex proposals.

A freshman member of the House, Rep. Tim McCormack, D-18 Cleveland, said he was concerned about public reaction to the special session. He feared, he said, that the public might see it as a move to placate the voters quickly as opposed to a slower, more studied approach to campaign reforms.

Republicans, as might have been expected, charged that the special session was called by Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan as a ploy to boost his campaign for re-election in 1974.

House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, was among those who said he was suspicious of Gilligan's move. He was "not completely convinced he wanted a bill," he said.

Others pointed out that Gilligan had nothing to lose, because even a legislative failure could be pointed to by him as an effort to reform campaign spending and contribution laws.

Gov. John J. Gilligan's office continues to receive calls about unidentified flying objects in the wake of his disclosure that he saw an amber-colored beam of light in the skies over Michigan recently.

He turned down an offer to appear on a nationwide television talk show. There were other calls from radio and television stations asking Gilligan to make tapes by telephone.

One more recent inquiry came from a flying saucer buff who wanted to know what the governor was doing to protect Ohioans from beings from outer space. Gilligan's smiling reply was that he was "patrolling the highways nightly" and would let the people know if anything turned up.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, let it be known he would like to see a law passed that would prevent state senators from running for other offices in the middle of their four-year terms.

VOTE FOR
CITY COUNCIL

X FRED G. ROST

IF ELECTED AS MEMBER OF COUNCIL, CITY OF WASHINGTON C. H., I WOULD TRY TO PERFORM SUCH DUTIES AS FOLLOWS:

1. FREEZE CITY TAXES

If additional money is desired for city services, it is the right of the public to vote for any increase needed.

2. FREEZE CITY SPENDING

The city should live within its fixed income and I will oppose deficit spending. In other words, I would FREEZE CITY SPENDING for the present. Where inflationary or other emergencies occur... and it is necessary to consider additional income... I believe the citizens should have an opportunity to approve such increases after being completely informed of the facts.

3. KEEP WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE AN INDEPENDENT POLITICAL UNIT

I believe also, that we should engage in Local Planning for improvements and expansion of services and issues — and I believe further, that we should cooperate with nearby counties — BUT — I OPPOSE AFFILIATING WITH ANY COMPREHENSIVE AREA comprising a large city or a large county (such as "Mid-Ohio").

4. VOTE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE WISHES OF THE CITIZENS OF WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE

I would work with the other members of council toward the desires of the citizens — based on fact and need — and not on my own personal, individual opinions.

FRED ROST

Candidate for Member - City Council - Washington C. H.

Police Sgt. Virgil B. Harris investigated the theft of a red shag carpet from Redman Industries at 2000 Kenskill Ave., at Thursday afternoon.

He spotted the carpet in a station wagon parked at the Friendly Corner tavern and apprehended James L. Sheldon, 44, and Glen Sheldon Jr., 50, both of Sabina, who were charged with grand larceny.

A box of miscellaneous tools is reported missing from a combine which was parked in the field of O. J. Ray farm; near Madison Mills.

Gary Depaugh, Mount Sterling, told the Sheriff's Department the theft had taken place between the late evening of Oct. 31 and early morning of Nov. 1.

A lost or stolen 17-month-old St. Bernard who answers to the name of "Gus" was reported to the Sheriff's Department by David Perry, of Bloomingburg, the dog's owner.

Perry stated Gus has been missing for over a week and has no license. He is red brown in color and has a white streak down the top of his head which ends in a black spot.

A CB antenna was pulled out of the roof of a car owned by William Knisley of 429 Blackstone St., sometime during Halloween night, police were told.

Jury scales down crash suit award

A jury of eight persons heard the evidence Wednesday in a damage suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Dolly M. Williamson, 111 N. Water St.; against John P. Morgan, Milledgeville - Octa Rd.

The plaintiff had asked $95,750 damages in connection with an automobile accident which occurred on the Columbus Avenue at Blackstone Street in the fall of 1971. She contended that the defendant had negligently operated a motor vehicle, causing the accident. Her claim was based on hospital bills slightly in excess of $600, loss of earnings of $1,800, and permanent suffering and continued loss of wages.

The jury found the defendant liable, but agreed that $765.09 compensation was adequate. Judge Evelyn W. Coffman accepted their verdict and ordered that the defendant pay the plaintiff that sum.

Seated on the jury were Louis N. Baer, Ronald E. Duncan, Betty E. Jones, Beverly McMurray, Larry Pollock, Florence Harper, Pearl A. Provost and Fred James.

City firemen answer 2 calls

The Washington C. H. Fire Department responded to a call at 1:09 p.m., Thursday, which turned out be a car which had caught fire.

Tom Stimson, 229 Hickory Lane, had been helping Jim Valentine, 361 Hickory Lane, work on his car at his residence.

When Stimson shorted out the selenoid in an attempt to start the engine, the gasoline on the engine and on the floor of the garage was ignited by the spark.

Firemen had no trouble subduing the flames with water. Damage was done to the car's wiring only.

Firemen responded to a call Wednesday concerning a bad gas leak and may have averted a tragedy.

Miss Dorothy Wallace, 821 E. Temple St., was told by firemen there was an abundance of carbon monoxide fumes in the air and she was cautioned to keep all gas off until the leaking lines were repaired.

Lions, MT in SCOL grid headliner

Record crowd eyed for tonight's fray

By MIKE FLYNN

It is ballyhooed as a grudge match of sorts, this football game tonight between unbeaten Washington C. H. and Miami Trace.

But, no matter what term is applied, it's difficult to find adjectives to describe the carnival atmosphere that accompanies the annual renewal of the mythical Fayette County football championship series.

SOME OBSERVERS feel a new attendance record will be established when a capacity crowd jams Miami Trace Field for the 13th anniversary of the intra-county showdown which will be tonight's (and this season's) South Central Ohio League feature attraction.

At least a chunk of this year's SCOL championship will be at stake for head coach Maurice Pfeifer's top-ranked Washington C. H. gang, while a Miami Trace win would throw the SCOL standings into a crowded three-way tie for the top perch.

Washington C. H. holds a slim 6-5 edge in the series and Miami Trace has posted two straight wins, but statistics are meaningless when the Blue Lions and Panthers start bucking headgear, especially when so much is at stake.

Defense is the strong suit for both teams.

The Washington C. H. defense, nicknamed the "Blue Wall," is nearly a legend in its own time by allowing only one touchdown in eight games after firing seven consecutive shutouts. However, Miami Trace's defense isn't a pushover, either. It is probably the prime reason for the Panthers' 5-3 all-games record and 3-1 showing inside the SCOL race.

While Washington C. H. and Miami Trace are determining the eventual outcome of the 46th SCOL sweepstakes in the 8 p.m. showdown, revived Hillsboro entertains Circleville, Madison Plains travels to Wilmington and Greenfield plays host to Oak Hill in a non-league rumble.

Hillsboro is riding the crest of a two-game win spree after scalping intra-county rival Greenfield and Madison Plains. Defending champion Circleville, which ruined Washington C. H.'s scoreless string last Friday, has dropped three of its last four games and shows a 3-5 all-games record.

ALWAYS-TOUGH Wilmington will be searching for its third straight win when Madison Plains comes calling for an 8 p.m. appointment. The Hurryin' Hurricane shows a 5-3 overall record after beating Miami Trace and Cincinnati McNicholas. The only win for Madison Plains this fall was a 14-8 verdict over hapless Greenfield.

Greenfield continues its bid to end a painful eight-game nosedive when the Tigers entertain Oak Hill tonight. Greenfield and Oak Hill have similar teams that really almost mirror each other. Oak Hill is 1-7 this season.

The Tigers will also be hoping to improve the SCOL's record against non-league competition this year. The SCOL record is 9-17.

Rookie Ben Crenshaw owns Texas Open lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw, the most highly touted rookie since Jack Nicklaus hit the pro golf tour, held the lead but wasn't yet ready to start counting the winners' purse in the $125,000 Texas Open.

"It's a good start," the husky 21-year-old said Thursday after his blazing, six-under-par 65 gave him a one-stroke margin after one round of the chase for a $25,000 first prize.

"It's good to start with such a good

Austintown Fitch seeks track victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Austintown Fitch is in a class by itself," said Ohio State track coach Bob Epskamp, looking ahead to the 46th state high school cross country meet Saturday.

Epskamp doubles as the director for the two-mile meet on the OSU golf course.

round, I feel pretty confident. But there's three more rounds to play. That's a long way to go," he said.

"I'm not even going to start thinking about winning yet."

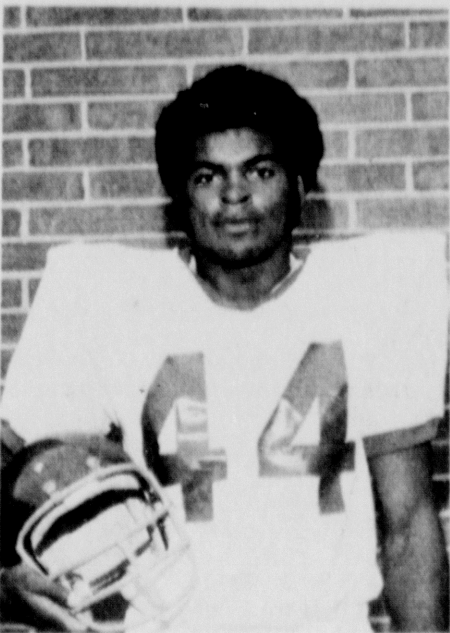

Crenshaw, a three-time national collegiate champion from the University of Texas, was making his first start since gaining his approved player's card as a full-fledged member of the pro tour.

Crenshaw ran in a monster putt—some 60 or 70 feet—for a share of the lead on the 17th hole then wedged to six feet and made the putt for a closing birdie that gave him the lead alone.

Bruce Fleisher, a former national amateur champion, and old pro Pete Brown, one of the few blacks on the tour, shared second with 66s.

Charles Coody, a former Masters champion and two-time winner in Great Britain this year, was alone with a 67 in the warm, mildly windy weather on the 6,990 yard, par 71 Woodlake Golf Club course.

Most of the game's great names—Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf—skipped this tournament, but the personable, hard-hitting Crenshaw filled the void very nicely.

CHUCK WILSON

Lion whiz pads SCOL point lead

Chuck Wilson, Washington C.H.'s prize tailback, continues to cushion his lopsided South Central Ohio League scoring lead.

Wilson, a hard-running 181-pound senior, continued his bid for an unprecedented second straight SCOL scoring championship, racked up 14 more points in Washington C.H.'s 20-7 win over Circleville last Friday night and now has scored 134 points in eight outings.

The 134-point represents 12 more points than the Lion ace scored last season when he nudged Miami Trace's Tony Grooms for the scoring title.

Jackie Watson, Wilmington's speedy tailback, is second with 68 points, followed by Circleville's Eddy Richter with 54 points and Miami Trace junior quarterback Tom Riley with 53 points. Washington C.H. halfback Mark Johnson, and tight end Jay Mossbarger, of Miami Trace, are tied with 34 points each.

Tal Smith takes post with Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen years ago, Tal Smith walked into the office of Gabe Paul, who was then vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

"He said he wanted to get into baseball," recalled Paul. "I asked if he could take shorthand and he said he couldn't. I told him he ought to learn and that if he could, we might have a place for him."

Three months later, Smith returned. "I can take shorthand now," he announced.

Impressed with the young man's determination, Paul hired him as secretary for the Reds' farm department. "He was not a high priced man," said Paul.

"I got $350 a month after some haggling," said Smith.

Thursday, Paul hired Smith again, this time as executive vice president of the New York Yankees in a front office realignment. The price this time? "He's in the higher echelon of baseball executives now," said Paul, smiling.

Smith, 40, replaces General Manager Lee MacPhail in the Yankee hierarchy. But he did not inherit the GM title that MacPhail carried before being chosen the new American League President. "That's nomenclature," said Paul. "It's what you call somebody."

From now on, Paul, who had been called an administrative partner in the Yankee superstructure, will be called president. The No. 1 man remains George M. Steinbrenner III, who's still called general partner. Smith was listed third in the chain of command.

The folks in New Orleans, and particularly the Tulane football team, haven't forgotten "Fifth-down Fran."

But Fran Curci, now Kentucky's football coach, wishes they would before the 14th-ranked Tulane Green Wave plays his Wildcats on Saturday at Lexington, Ky.

Curci coached Miami, Fla., against Tulane last season when officials in the Orange Bowl lost track of the downs in the final minute of play. The Hurricanes were stopped four times but got the ball for a fifth down.

Miami used the extra down for a 24-yard touchdown pass for a 24-21 victory and Tulane football fans have been yelling foul ever since.

Tulane officials politely asked Miami to give up the victory. Miami officials politely refused.

"As far as I'm concerned that game with Tulane last year is history," says Curci, who shifted to Kentucky at the end of last season. "My players don't know a thing about the fifth down and I was hoping the people down there would have forgotten about it by now."

Curci's Wildcats, 3-4, will need all the help they can get against Tulane. The Greenies, off to their finest start since 1934, are gunning for their seventh victory in as many games.

The Miami Hurricanes, now coached by Pete Elliott, open this week's college football schedule with a game tonight against West Virginia.

On Saturday, seventh-ranked Louisiana State plays Mississippi in the second half of a national television doubleheader and the first half of a day-night twin bill at Mississippi Memorial Stadium in Jackson.

In the first half of the television doubleheader, Texas, which shares the No. 19 ranking with Auburn, plays at Southern Methodist.

In the second half of the Mississippi doubleheader, No. 2 Alabama plays Mississippi State.

In other Saturday day games, top-ranked Ohio State puts its perfect record on display against the surprising Illini, No. 3 Oklahoma entertains Big Eight rival Iowa State and fourth-ranked Michigan hosts Big Ten opponent Indiana.

Panther frosh end year with victory

The Miami Trace freshman team reeled off its sixth victory in a row Thursday by defeating a previously unbeaten and unscored upon East Clinton team 32-12.

The Panther frosh ended the season with six wins and no losses, but had one tie. The tie came in the first game of the season.

Miami Trace totalled 228 yards to 109 yards for East Clinton.

Coach Joe Henry reported that the entire team had come along way from the beginning of the season. "There should be some good football players reach the varsity ranks next year from this squad," Henry said.

DAN GIFFORD pounded out two touchdowns to lead the Panthers in the scoring department. Tom Everhart threw for one of the scores to Sam Grooms in the first quarter. Rex Coe also crossed the goal line once and Bill Warnock and Mike Crabtree scored the extra points on two occasions.

But the turning point in the game

tertains Washington.

Also in the daytime, No. 11 Tennessee hosts Georgia; 12th-ranked Missouri entertains Kansas State; No. 13 Nebraska hosts 17th-ranked Colorado; No. 15 Texas Tech is at home against Southwest Conference rival Rice; 16th-ranked Miami, Ohio visits Western Michigan; and No. 19 Auburn hosts Florida.

Besides the Alabama-Mississippi State clash the only other night game involving a Top 20 team finds No. 18 Houston hosting Florida State.

Oldest NFL rivalry resumes Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — The oldest rivalry in the National Football League resumes this Sunday when the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers play for the 100th time.

There have been bloody battles galore in this historic series and the Bears hold a 55-47-6 edge over-all.

Last week's dismal picking was seven right, five wrong and one tie. That made the season percentage .674 for 58-28-5.

Chicago (2-5) at Green Bay (2-3-2) — Green Bay is favored by a touchdown. Since 1966 a trend has developed with Chicago losing four, winning one, losing four, winning one and losing four. BEARS 20, PACKERS 17.

Cleveland (4-2-1) at Minnesota (7-0) — The Vikings have to lose sometime, but not this time. VIKINGS 28, BROWNS 17.

Los Angeles (6-1) at Atlanta (4-3) — Los Angeles wasn't supposed to go as far as it has. After losing to Minnesota last week, this will be a good test of Chuck Knox's coaching ability. RAMS 24, FALCONS 21.

Buffalo (5-2) at New Orleans (3-4) — Who would have ever thought a couple of weeks ago that the Saints would be rated "pick em" by the oddsmakers. So, let's pick, SAINTS 28, BILLS 23.

Miami (6-1) at New York Jets (2-5) — Miami is a heavy favorite, as usual, and the Jets are still without Joe Namath. DOLPHINS 31, JETS 17.

Cincinnati (4-3) at Dallas (4-3) — The Cowboys have never lost to an American Football Conference team in regular season play and the oddsmakers may know something. So, COWBOYS 28, BENGALS 20.

Kansas City (3-3-1) at San Diego (1-5-1) — The lowly Chargers tied heavily favored Cleveland last week. Does that mean they're ready to upset Kansas City, which is favored by a mere six points. Don't bet on it. CHIEFS 24, CHARGERS 13.

New York Giants (1-5-1) at Oakland (4-2-1) — Ken Stabler appears to be coming into his own as Oakland quarterback. The Giants, meanwhile, didn't do any better by changing from Norm Snead to Randy Johnson at quarterback. RAIDERS 25, GIANTS 17.

Denver (3-3-1) at St. Louis (3-4) — Both Denver and St. Louis scored impressive victories last week but the Broncos are still in the running in the AFC West—or for a wild card spot. BRONCOS 21, CARDINALS 18.

New England (2-5) at Philadelphia (2-4-1) — Will success spoil the Philadelphia Eagles, who've actually won two games? Well, the Eagles may not be spoiled but they should win three games this season. EAGLES 27, PATRIOTS 20.

San Francisco (3-4) at Detroit (2-4-1) — Detroit finally did what they were supposed to last week and won. Is it asking too much for a repeat? The oddsmakers like the Lions, so why argue. LIONS 20, 49ERS 17.

Houston (0-7) at Baltimore (2-5) — This could be the only half-decent chance that the Oilers have to win this season. OILERS 21, COLTS 17.

Washington (5-2) at Pittsburgh (6-1) — Pittsburgh is favored by a mere one-point Monday night. But the favorites haven't been doing well on Monday nights and Terry Bradshaw is hurt. Besides, it's time for the Redskin offense to do something right. RED-SKINS 23, STEELERS 21.

Browns go against tough Minnesota

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns shaky offensive unit will be up against one of the National Football Leagues toughest defenses Sunday when it takes the field against the undefeated Minnesota Vikings.

Minnesota maintained its status as the only undefeated NFL team Sunday by pulling out a 10-9 victory over the previously unbeaten Los Angeles Rams.

The Minnesota defense held the Rams to three field goals, while the San Diego Chargers were strong enough to halt the Browns with a 16-16 tie.

"The Vikings defense is as good as any we've seen this year," Browns Coach Nick Skorich said. "They're better than Pittsburgh because they've been playing together so long."

The Steelers shut out the Browns 33-0 several weeks ago.

"They have a premier tackle in the league in Alan Page," Skorich added. The Vikings defense have held their opponents to six touchdowns in seven games.

Browns quarterback Mike Phipps is going to have to be exceptionally cautious when he throws the ball. The Vikings have a total of 10 interceptions and last week picked off two passes from one of the NFL's more poised field marshals — John Hadl.

Ohio Conference sets cross-country meet

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Mount Union and Baldwin-Wallace are the pre-meet favorites in the 39th annual Ohio Conference cross country meet Saturday at Wooster College.

Mount Union, whose string of six straight titles was snapped last fall by Denison, won the Ohio Conference Relays and finished first among college division squads in the All-Ohio meet.

Parkinsonism Can Be Alayed

A recent diagnosis of early Parkinson's disease was made after my uncle was examined at a hospital. We now know a little bit about the condition, but there are some things that concern us.

As this condition progresses, are the mind and the memory affected?

Is there any cure for Parkinson's?

Mr. T.A., Minn.

Dear Mr. A.: Parkinson's disease is also known as Paralysis Agitans. It is sometimes referred to as "shaking palsy."

It is a testimonial to your doctor that a diagnosis was made so early. Sometimes it is extremely difficult to recognize until it reaches a more advanced stage.

This disease of the central nervous system usually occurs late in life, but does occasionally happen to people even under 30.

One unusual type of Parkinson's disease is a complication of encephalitis, or brain infection. This is now less common because active treatment of these infections with antibiotics has reduced such after-effects of brain infection.

Most cases of Parkinson's disease are referred to as "idiopathic," which is the scientific way of saying, "We don't know the cause."

It must be impressed on everyone in contact with patients with Parkinsonism that there is no mental deficiency, retardation or mental disturbance associated with this condition.

In advanced stages, the memory can be affected.

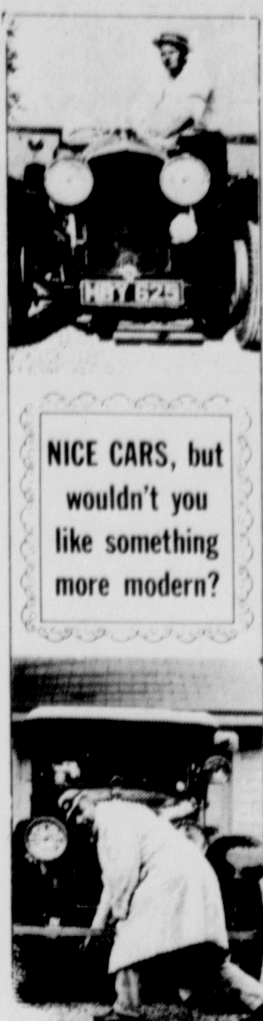

The discovery of L-dopa has revolutionized the treatment for Parkinson's disease. Dramatic result have truly given these courageous people another chance at a happy and productive life.

Highly technical operations of the brain by cryosurgery have in some cases been remarkably successful using a probe that is frozen by nitrogen, a small portion of the brain thought to be responsible for Parkinsonism is destroyed.

Surgery by this technique is still being carefully investigated and assessed.

The future of people with early Parkinsonism no longer holds the terrible threat it once did.

The division of watercraft of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources says boaters should be familiar with the different types of marker buoys found on Ohio streams to distinguish navigational hazards, identify off-limits areas and provide special instructions.

Four captured after wild chase

Police and Sheriff's departments participated in a wild chase through the streets of Washington C. H. in the early morning hours today.

It all began when Police Sgt. Charles M. Long clocked a car at 12:35 a.m., heading north on Columbus Avenue at 65 miles an hour and gave chase with red lights flashing.

The speeding car slowed and pulled into Blackstone Avenue.

Long got out of his cruiser and approached it on foot.

He looked at the driver, the driver look at Long, shoved the car into gear and "floored it." The chase was resumed.

The car sped north on Blackstone to Gregg Street, then headed west on Gregg Street, crashing stop signs at Lewis and Gregg and Delaware and Gregg at 70 miles an hour, the officer said.

Long, still in pursuit, chased the car north onto Pearl Street and into an alley off Forest Street, where it slid into a yard and came to a stop. Its four occupants fled on foot.

The Sheriff's Department, by this time, had been called and Deputies Terry L. Summers and Robert A. Russell noticed four persons walking east on Paint Street who matched the descriptions given for the occupants of the speeding car.

THE FOUR saw the sheriff's deputies and fled down an alley at the rear of Washington Junior High School.

Summers and Russell pulled to a stop and gave chase on foot.

They were led into the courtyard where they found the driver, Jack Lee Anders, 23, of 110 W. Elm St.; Karen Spradlin and Janice Burnett, both of 1005 Millwood Ave. and David Acord of 120 Blackstone St., hiding in a pine tree.

Summers and Russell took the four to the police station on the request of Sgt. Long.

Anders was charged with driving without an operator's license, reckless operation, speeding and fleeing from a police officer.

The others involved were not held.

WSHS students vote

John Morris, James Vess, Hugh Patton and Ralph Cook will be elected to serve on City Council, say the students of Washington Senior High School.

In a mock election held Thursday at the school, students voted on all the candidates and issues to appear on Tuesday's city ballot.

Senior government students, under the direction of Miss Helen Hutson, manned the voting booths and tallied the results.

Morris, who teaches driver education at the high school, was the largest vote-getter for Council with 175 votes. He was followed by Vess, 153; and Cook and Patton, who received 129 each. No other candidate received 100 votes.

Fred Domenico nosed out Phil Morrow for the most votes of the school board candidates, but with two to be elected, they both won comfortably over Mrs. Katherine Lee and John Wedgewood.

SCHOOL AND HEALTH levies were all passed as did the four state issues.

The school operating levy renewal carried by a 190-68 margin, while the additional millage was passed 163-103.

The .2 mill health levy received 171 votes with 101 opposed.

Issue 1, stating that farm land could be taxed according to its agricultural use rather than its market value, carried by a vote of 172-102.

Issue 2 proposes that Ohio residents be allowed to declare all dependants on their state income tax. At present no more than six dependents are allowed. The students voted 148 in favor; 122 opposed.

Issue 3, which would allow municipal judges to receive in-term raises and the legislature to consolidate county common pleas courts, was favored by a 176-105 margin.

Issue 4 proposes that $300 million, the entire anticipated revenue from the state lottery for the next 12 years, be given to Ohioans who served in the armed forces during the Vietnam conflict, even if they never left their home town. The students carried the measure by a 204-71 vote.

Orientation Day at Laurel Oaks

WILMINGTON — Laurel Oaks Career Development Center will conduct a career orientation day starting at 9 a.m. Nov. 6 for prospective students, according to Jim Fleisher, student services supervisor.

Sophomores from Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties are invited to spend the day at the vocational school, touring the campus and seeing the many programs in operation. Students may spend more than an hour in the program area of their choice, observing classes in operation, talking with instructors and discussing job opportunities.

Approximately 800 students are expected to attend and more information can be obtained by contacting high school counselors.

Jeff Scouts to collect waste paper Saturday

JEFFERSONVILLE—The monthly paper drive by Scout Troop 67 here is scheduled for Saturday; old newspapers and magazines may be brought to the Scout Hall, opposite the Fire Department, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Scoutmaster Fred Doyle explained that experience has shown it is simpler for people to bring the paper to the Scout Hall than for the Scouts to try to pick it up because the troop does not have the necessary trucks and cars for the job.

Union approves new three-year pact with DP&L

DAYTON — Members of Local 175, Utility Workers Union of America AFL-CIO, have approved a new three-year contract with The Dayton Power and Light Co. by a vote of 818 to 202.

The new agreement, which will become effective immediately, is within the federal government's Cost of Living Council's guidelines. Details were released jointly by Harold Moots, president of Local 175, and William H. Miller, manager of union relations for DP&L.

Here are the highlights:

On wages, employees will receive an average increase of 27 cents per hour the first year of the contract and an average increase of 29 cents the second year. Ten cents of the existing cost of living allowance will be rolled into the base rate in each year. In addition, in the first and second year there is a skills adjustment for those classifications of journeymen and above.

The third year, the agreement will be open for wage negotiations only.

Employees will receive four weeks vacation after 18 years of service in the first year of the contract. The second year they will have Good Friday as an additional holiday. In the third year they will receive four weeks vacation for 15 years of service.

Additional improvements were made in the shift premium for second and third shift work and in meal allowances. Also beginning with the third year of the contract the premium for Sunday work will increase from 15 to 20 per cent.

Port Clinton blast, fire investigated

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—The Ottawa County sheriff's department said the state fire marshal's office had been called in to investigate an explosion and fire that destroyed the MEK Chemical Co. plant near here Thursday evening.

No deaths or injuries were reported, although rescue workers poked through the rubble for several hours after the fire was extinguished.

Sheriff's dispatchers said they received calls after the explosion reporting that there were workers inside the building. But deputies said later the callers apparently confused the plant with others in the industrial park four miles west of Port Clinton.

Delay seen over Saxbe confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe's nomination as attorney general has drawn bipartisan support, but still unresolved is how quickly the Senate Judiciary Committee will act on it.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., was among committee members who said Thursday that priority should be given to legislation providing for a court-appointed special Watergate prosecutor.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., also said the committee should take up the nomination only after "we get the prosecutor legislation moving." Bayh said, however, "Bill Saxbe will make a good attorney general."

The White House coupled Saxbe's designation Thursday with appointment of Leon Jaworski as special prosecutor.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott and other GOP committee members indicated they wanted prompt hearings on Saxbe's nomination.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., who has said he is confident of Saxbe's confirmation by the Senate, left for home without leaving word on what his plans are.

Meanwhile, questions were raised about Saxbe's eligibility to become attorney general because the salary for that position was raised during Saxbe's Senate term.

A provision of the Constitution says no member of Congress can be appointed to any civil office during his term if the salary of the office is increased in that period.

Horace Webb, a spokesman for the Justice Department, said acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork believes "remedial legislation can resolve the problem and such legislation will be sent forward with Mr. Saxbe's nomination."

Tunney told newsmen he was "not saying we should hold Saxbe's nomination hostage" to passage of the bill to provide for a special prosecutor who could not be dismissed by President Nixon.

Similarly, Bayh said, "I don't like legislative blackmail." But he was among committee Democrats who contended prompt legislative action was made more urgent than ever by the appointment of Jaworski to replace Archibald Cox as the special prosecutor.

Gilligan ponders Saxbe successor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan says he'll consult Ohio's Democrats and other public and political figures before deciding on a successor to U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio.

Gilligan said Thursday that he won't make his choice known until the Senate confirms Saxbe's appointment as U.S. attorney general.

Gilligan said there's one certainty about the appointment—he won't name himself to the position. Saxbe defeated Gilligan in the 1968 Senate election.

Millionaire Cleveland businessman Howard Metzenbaum appeared the frontrunner for the job, though neither Gilligan nor the 1972 Democratic nominee for the Senate would comment on the prospect.

Metzenbaum said he's leaving the choice up to the governor. "I don't think there's anything that I could talk to him about that could either add to or detract from his own conclusions," he said.

The 54-year-old Metzenbaum narrowly lost the 1972 race to U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

Metzenbaum is a one-time state legislator who made a fortune in airport parking lots. He publishes a suburban newspaper.

Former astronaut John Glenn, popular among Democratic leaders in small and medium-sized counties, is another possibility for the job.

Glenn dropped out of the 1964 Senate race after a bathroom accident, and lost to Metzenbaum in the 1972 primary.

He has been at odds with Gilligan and the state Democratic organization,

Jobless rate falls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took a sharp and surprising downward turn last month, falling to 4.5 per cent of the work force, the lowest jobless rate since March 1970, the government said today.

The unemployment rate matched the predictions of the Nixon administration, which had forecast earlier this year the jobless rate would drop to 4.5 per cent by the end of the year. The unemployment rate had remained stuck at 4.8 per cent since June.

Arctic cold, more snow pound U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arctic cold gripped the northern Rockies today as an autumn storm packing heavy snow spilled across the Great Plains.

Temperatures plunged to the mid teens and lower in Montana, where up to a foot of snow fell Wednesday night and Thursday.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for the mountains and northeastern Colorado where 4 to 6 inches were expected. A cold-wave warning also was in effect for parts of the state.

The storm diminished over Montana and Wyoming where 10 to 12 inches were common Thursday.

The snow extended into the Plains as far east as Minnesota and southeastern Nebraska. Two inches of new snow whitened Dickinson, N.D., and an inch dusted Denver.

Temperatures slid into the 30s at Dodge City, Kan., after reaching a high of 83 Thursday.

Elsewhere, light rain sprinkled areas from Iowa to Michigan and parts of Maine. Snow flurries whirled over northwestern Pennsylvania.

Emergency action developing

Fuel shortage gets worse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with a worsening of the fuel shortage, a key senator and the White House energy adviser have agreed to act "without delay" on an emergency plan.

Senate Interior Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson said he and White House adviser John A. Love agreed on quick action because "the crisis is much worse than all of us anticipated a week ago."

The two met after a reassessment of the effect of the ban by nine Arab nations on oil shipments to the United States. Recent figures more than doubled previous estimates of the loss in oil imports, Jackson said.

"There'll be a lot of things turned off the moment that last ship comes in," the Washington Democrat said.

Jackson has introduced legislation to deal with the fuel shortage. However, the administration disagrees with several provisions.

There were these other developments on the fuel shortage:

—Auto travel became more expensive in many areas of the country, with price increases of as much as three cents a gallon at some gas stations.

Phillips Petroleum Co., citing increased costs of foreign crude oil, raised its wholesale prices by three cents a gallon for gasoline and heating oil. Sun, Union and Skelly oil companies announced price hikes of one cent per gallon. Dealers immediately began to pass the increases on to the consumer.

—A number of airlines diminished the number of flights. The nation's three largest airlines — American, Trans World and United — dropped 80 flights to conserve fuel. Other cuts were announced by Delta, North Central, Piedmont, Continental, Frontier, Eastern and Northwest Orient.

All of the airlines said they were cutting back on "lowload" flights, which are not heavily traveled.

—Canada, the United States' top source of foreign oil, said it is raising its federal export tax on crude oil by almost 400 per cent.

The tax will increase from 40 cents a barrel to $1.90 a barrel, effective Dec. 1. The current price of Canadian crude is $4.20 a barrel at the Alberta wellhead, and Canadian Energy Minister Donald Macdonald said if that rises, the export tax will be reduced a like amount to keep the export price constant.

The United States is currently importing just over a million barrels a day of crude oil from Canada.

—The Defense Department was given special priority to buy U.S. domestic petroleum ahead of other customers, adding further pressure to supplies. About half of Defense Department fuel needs are purchased from abroad, the government said, adding that Defense cannot rely on foreign supplies in present circumstances.

—Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent urged U.S. industry to take immediate conservation measures. "Failure to conserve now will aggravate extent of business shut-downs in months ahead ..." he said in a telegram sent to leading corporations.

Love said the administration is "giving serious consideration" to regulating business hours.

Love and Jackson both said the administration has to be "ready to invoke rationing as necessary," though neither would predict whether it would be necessary.

Election spending measure unlikely for this year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A committee trying to resolve partisan differences on campaign reforms has adjourned until next week, all but dashing hopes for new laws this year on the politically sensitive issue.

The joint conference committee of three Republicans and three Democrats quit Thursday after a polite session of nearly three hours. They heard each other out, but didn't get into the substance of the issues that divide them.

House Speaker A.G. Lincione, D-99 Bellare, virtually conceded there can be no agreement by next Wednesday, the deadline for a 90-day bill that would be in effect when candidates file in February for 1974 primary elections.

"If we can't get an agreement by Tuesday, I'll give up on a 90-day bill," he said. The conference committee looking at separate Democratic and Republican versions doesn't meet again until 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, who called the special session Oct. 23, had said he wanted new legislation in time for next year's elections to help curb mounting public skepticism over campaigns and politicians.

The only way this now can be accomplished is for the lawmakers to enact an immediately-effective emergency bill. That would take a two-thirds vote on an issue that has even caused internal bickering within the two major parties.

One other option remains open. The special session could stay on and pass a law that would take effect sometime after the filing deadline. Rep. Richard

F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, a conference committee member and sponsor of the Democratic House bill, said he thinks the legislature can find "temporary language" to bring 1974 elections under the law's provisions.

Another conferee, Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, said he thinks there is a chance that the lawmakers can yet enact an emergency bill. But he added that it depends "on whether the governor is willing to compromise on some of the key issues—one of which is the freedom of choice provision in the (GOP) Senate version."

Death claims L.W. Reese

Lloyd W. Reese, 76, of Lima, superintendent of Washington C.H. schools from February, 1936 through the 1940-41 school year, died about noon Thursday in the Lima Convalescent Home.

He was appointed by the state Department of Education to head the schools here following the resignation of Supt. A.D. St. Clair, and remained until the start of World War II, when he resigned to enter the Navy.

During his superintendency, the auditorium was added to the high school (now the Junior High School) and the gymnasium was converted into classrooms in an extensive remodeling program. The present Sunnyside School building also was erected during

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Marion Razete, a 67-year-old widow who was an epileptic and feared living alone, opened her house to human strays of all ages and races.

Thursday she was found dead in her North Miami house. She had been beaten and strangled. Her body was discovered by a young Vietnam veteran she invited home after he tried to panhandle a quarter from her.

Police said they are seeking two long-haired young drifters who accepted Mrs. Razete's hospitality a few days ago.

But a Secret Service technician who minded the tapes said that on other occasions when tapes ran out, he sometimes wrote "tape ran out" on the back of the box. Ben Veniste said the notation "Full" could be read two ways, either that the tape had run out or that it had almost run out.

Impeachment polls bring mixed response

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three public opinion polls conducted since the firing of the Watergate special prosecutor have produced sharply differing accounts of national attitudes on the issue of whether President Nixon should be impeached.

The contrasting results raise anew questions about the impact and accuracy of such surveys.

A telephone survey by the Oliver Quayle organization Oct. 20 reported 44 per cent favoring impeachment. The nationwide poll was conducted among 947 persons 24 hours after President Nixon fired Archibald Cox.

Quayle said 43 per cent opposed impeachment and 13 per cent were undecided.

A George Gallup poll taken last weekend, after Nixon agreed to surrender secret White House tapes and then explained his actions at a news conference, was markedly different.

Conducted by telephone among 623 persons nationwide, the Gallup poll found 28 per cent favoring impeachment, while 55 per cent were opposed. Undecideds were 17 per cent.

A Lou Harris poll released Wednesday found 63 per cent favoring Nixon's resignation or impeachment if the tapes produce evidence showing the President was involved in the Watergate cover-up. Twenty-three per cent didn't favor such action.

Harris gathered the results through telephone interviews with 1,000 persons nationwide.

The contrasts in the three polls raise questions about their use by officials in conducting national affairs. "I've never believed that public opinion ought to be taken as a mandate by government officials. The Constitution in part serves to protect us from raw public opinion," said Dr. Angus Campbell, director of the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan.

"I think there is an unfortunate developing tendency to look at polls as an instant plebiscite, which they never were meant to be," said Dr. Harold Mendelsohn of the University of Denver, president of the American Association for Public Opinion Research.

White House officials have declined to say what role, if any, the Quayle poll, had on the decision to release the tapes. They acknowledged that presidential aides were aware of the survey.

Quayle speculated about what his poll meant during an Oct. 23. television program. His appearance came just hours before Nixon made the final decision to reverse his tapes stand.

Quayle said Nixon was in deep trouble politically and that the pollster had never before seen so dramatic a public-opinion shift favoring impeachment.

Critics argue that quick polls conducted amid fastbreaking events sample public opinion formed from only partial information.

"The Quayle poll was based on such partial information," Mendelsohn said. "At the moment it might have represented some reality in terms of a very fast reaction to a fast-breaking event."

"But the time element is terribly important. This might be only a temporary thing or it might be more deepseated," he said.

Rain, sun clear up sootiness

It appears that one of the most baffling mysteries in Washington C. H. history may be taking care of itself.

City Manager Dan Wolford said today that most of a black colored substance that covered some 20 dwellings on the city's east side last week had been either washed away by recent rains or burned off by the sun. Wolford said some homes now show no trace of the mysterious substance.

Portions of many of the homes involved in the dirty mystery turned black overnight. Most brick and aluminum homes were not affected, but houses with wood siding were, in some instances, covered with the sooty substance.

The homes affected were near the city's sewage treatment plant and a fertilizer plant. However, the city administration had reports of some homes as far as two miles away reportedly covered with a dingy substance, but to a lesser degree than those houses on the East Side.

WOLFORD SAID, a representative from the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency office in Dayton told Orville Dixon, the city's superintendent of waste water and treatment facilities, that it would be almost a waste of time to dispatch an EPA mobile pollution laboratory unit here.

The atmospheric and exact weather conditions of last Wednesday night and Thursday morning, when the substances first appeared, cannot be duplicated, the EPA representative pointed out.

Many residents reported a strong odor which they believed originated from the sewage treatment plant. But, the EPA representative, after checking the plant with Dixon, said he did not believe the plant was at fault.

Samples of the substance were taken from the homes in the area by Wittenberg University students at Springfield. The samples will be studied in the school's chemistry and biology laboratories in an effort to identify the substance.

Wolford pointed out that in the instances where the substance has disappeared no permanent damage has resulted to the homes.

Marshall Grangers discuss Yule party

The party will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cannon and will include a $1 gift exchange.

Among the communications read at the meeting was one from Volunteer Services, which conducts a project for Granges to contribute to a fund to take State Hospital patients to the State Fair.

This meeting was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan.

Ohio food price variance studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Why should milk cost four cents more per quart in Athens than in Cleveland, while peanut butter is four cents higher in Cleveland than in Athens?

Even the experts can't say. An Associated Press survey showed no particular patterns between the lowest and highest prices in Ohio.

But a check of four items in 11 communities showed Cleveland coming out ahead on three of them.

Ground chuck was selling for $1.09 a pound in Cleveland, compared to $1.39 in Toledo, Van Wert and Youngstown.

The price of a dozen medium size eggs in Cleveland was 65 cents, but 85 cents in Portsmouth, 87 cents in Lima, 79 cents in Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Athens and Van Wert.

A quart of whole milk cost 39 cents in Cleveland, the same as in Youngstown and Lima, but under its 45-cent cost in Toledo, 43 cents in Athens, 42 cents in Cincinnati and Dayton, and 41 cents in Portsmouth.

A 12-ounce jar of peanut butter sold for 53 cents in Cleveland, against 45 cents in Conneaut and 49 cents in Athens, Youngstown and Massillon.

The Ohio prices were higher on two items and lower on the other two than the national average, based on surveys in 13 cities coast-to-coast.

The average price in Ohio of a pound of ground chuck was $1.31, compared to $1.17 nationally. For a quart of milk, the Ohio average was 41 cents against the national average of 40 cents.

But the average Ohio price for a dozen eggs was less than the national average—77 cents against 79 cents. And Ohio shaded the national average on peanut butter—52 cents against 56 cents.

Prices of food in Ohio were a mixed bag the farther a marketbasket list extended. Add four more selected items — center-cut pork chops, butter, a brand name detergent and allbeef frankfurters.

Cleveland's edge in lower prices didn't hold up with these four items. Conneaut came in with the lowest price for a pound of center-cut pork chops at $1.09, with Van Wert second at $1.29. Cleveland ran third at $1.34, well ahead of Toledo's $1.79, Portsmouth's and Athens' $1.73 and $1.59 at Columbus.

But, only Massillon showed a lower butter price per pound than Cleveland at 79 cents. Cleveland and Van Wert showed 93 cents, compared to $1.09 at Conneaut and $1.05 at Columbus. Toledo, Lima and Athens showed 99 cents.

Lima and Toledo weighed in lowest for the detergent at 79 cents, with Portsmouth the most expensive at $1.09.

Julie says Dad believes press critics too vocal

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower said today her father, President Nixon, wants to cooperate with the news media but that his statements are never given the exposure received by those of his critics.

"I think he wants to work along with the press," Mrs. Eisenhower said on the NBC-TV "Today" program. "His point was that so many times the press has played the critics' side so much louder than his."

In the coverage of Watergate and related developments, she said, "what bothered me most was any suggestion that my parents aren't honest."

"This really bothers my father very greatly — that the charges are repeated and repeated, and when they are set straight they're not given the same play."

Jeff water situation eases, but no sewers

JEFFERSONVILLE—Jeffersonville now has water again, but the village is still without the use of the sewer system and treatment plant that was installed over the last year.

This, in a nutshell, was the situation that took up virtually the entire session of the Village Council Thursday night.

The No. 1 well, which had been the principal source of supply until last week, has been cleaned of nearly 20 feet accumulation of sand and earth and is now producing 115 gallons a minute, an increase from 8 gallons a minute during the eight days the village was supplied by a private well on the Dinkler Plastics property.

The village has three other wells and has started drilling a fifth near the swimming pool west of the village. The No. 2 well is producing about 35 gallons a minute to supplement the flow from the No. 1 well. The No. 3 and No. 4 wells are producing less than 12 gallons a day each. Mayor Donald M. Morrow said the supply now (from No. 1 and No. 2 wells) is adequate—for the time being and unless more complications arise.

COUNCIL turned from the water situation to the sewer system, which has not yet been put to use. All segments of the system are to be inspected this week before the engineers of the contractors, the village engineer, Schirtzinger & Associates, of Chillicothe, the village service director, Lindy Sharrett, and an engineer of the federal Farmers Home Administration meet with Council at 7 p.m. next Thursday. If all segments of the sewer system pass inspection, Mayor Morrow said steps will be taken by Council to complete the settlement. If they are not, he pointed out, a penalty of $80 a day could be assessed.

Council was told that the sewer lines installed in the eastern section and business district by Contract Service Co. probably will pass inspection, but

Ford believes impeachment hearings should continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the House should go ahead with its investigation to determine whether President Nixon should be impeached.

The Michigan congressman said he doubts there are grounds for impeachment, but conceded the basis for such action can be anything a majority of the House considers it to be.

"The House of Representatives should proceed with consideration of impeachment to help clear the air," Ford told the Senate Rules Committee Thursday as the panel opened hearings into his nomination to succeed Spiro T. Agnew as vice president.

The public hearings will resume Monday with more testimony from Ford and from members of Congress, who generally have praised the selection of Ford, a House member for 25 years and Republican leader for nine.

In four hours of testimony, Ford: —Said it might have been better had the White House disclosed earlier that two of the nine tapes subpoenaed in the Watergate investigation did not exist. The disclosure was made Wednesday.

—Said that on issues of executive privilege, a president should seek a balance between confidentiality and the public's right to know.

—Denied being a conduit for dairy-industry contributions to members of Congress.

—Denounced as lies allegations by former lobbyist Robert N. Winter-Berger's that Winter-Berger gave Ford $15,000 to pay Mrs. Ford's medical bills.

that the lines in the western section of town installed by Coates Brothers and the treatment plant by Dennison Construction Co. probably will have some more work done before they are approved.

Council also was told by the mayor that the paving of Railroad Street, which has been practically rebuilt, should be completed by Nov. 9.

He also said cards on which complaints, especially those related to the sewer system construction, have been given to village residents and reminded that those with complaints should fill out the cards and get them to Sharrett before next Thursday.

Routine bills were approved with very little discussion.

Mobile home probe set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Commercial Director Dennis Shaul announced today a public hearing Nov. 14-15 to look into what he called "massive problems" in the mobile home industry.

Shaul said in a statement he'll subpoena mobile home dealers and manufacturers to answer questions from dissatisfied consumers.

"The consumer protection division of the Commerce Department has received hundreds of complaints from mobile home owners in this state," Shaul said.

"These complaints include horror stories of manufacturing defects which threaten families' health and safety," he said. "In addition, we have evidence of numerous deceptions in the sales techniques used by mobile home dealers including misrepresentations of the model year, the warranty terms, and the actual price of a financed home."

Shaul said the hearings may lead to stricter regulation of the mobile home industry.

—Repeated that he will not be a candidate for any political office in 1976.

In his opening statement and at several points during the hearing, Ford said he wants to "be a ready conciliator and calm communicator between the White House and Capitol Hill, between the re-election mandate of the Republican President and the equally emphatic mandate of the Democratic 93rd Congress."

Ford expressed the hope that "some of the damage" caused by Nixon's handling of the Watergate case can be repaired by the choice of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, for attorney general and Leon Jaworski for Watergate prosecutor as well as the surrender of Watergate tapes.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Former University of Wisconsin student Karleton L. Armstrong has been sentenced to a 23-year prison term in a 1970 bombing that destroyed a campus building and killed a researcher.

Armstrong, 27, pleaded guilty Sept. 28 to a second-degree murder charge and was sentenced Thursday by Circuit Court Judge William Schachtjen.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William B. Saxbe, the attorney general designate, says he will have to look at the evidence before deciding if a federal grand jury investigation of the Kent State University shootings is warranted.

"I want to look at the evidence and then decide what to do," Saxbe said Thursday.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association said today 250 new money requests by local schools will be on Ohio's general election ballot Tuesday.

The total includes 96 bond issues, 150 requests for additional operating funds and four combination levies. The bond issues ask a total of about $224 million for capital improvements.

In addition, 74 renewals of existing levies are up for approval, the OEA said.

45 no. 4 ital newsmen left KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, here for a weekend stay, left Washington without taking any newsmen or photographers with him. It was the first time that has happened in his administration.

Service Technician Raymond C. Zumwalt had changed his testimony about why two days of presidential conversations were recorded on a single machine with only a six-hour supply of tape. At first, Zumwalt said, a switcher had failed to turn on a second machine for the April 15 date. Later, he said, he remembered that the switcher hadn't been set to operate that day because it was on a weekend.

—A White House archivist testified that the official diary of President Nixon's minute-by-minute whereabouts on April 15 was revised after more than three months, on July 26, the same date Watergate prosecutors subpoenaed nine White House tapes and related documents. The archivist, John Nesbitt, said this was only a coincidence. But Ben Veniste said it raised another question about the reliability of White House evidence.

In other related developments Thursday:

—The President's new special prosecutor, Houston lawyer Leon Jaworski, said he has been given enough independence to satisfy him. "Conditions I believed would enable me to do the job as it should be done have been met," he said. The President has said he will not surrender presidential papers and tape recordings except for those he already has agreed to give to Sirica.

—Nixon's choice to be vice president, Rep. Gerald R. Ford, gave the President some lowkey criticism for failing to say sooner that two Watergate tapes never existed. "My immediate reaction is that it might have been much more helpful if the information had been made available at an earlier date," Ford said at his Senate confirmation hearings.

—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Nixon's credibility "has reached an all-time low from which he may not be able to recover." He again urged Nixon to testify before the Senate Watergate committee. "I feel now more than ever that this may offer the only way out," he said.

—The committee, meanwhile, heard Nixon's former campaign director, Clark MacGregor, testify that he had been used and deceived by Dean and former campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder. MacGregor also suggested Nixon should submit to questioning, but only by the Watergate committee's two ranking members.

Stock list down again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened slightly lower again today, extending their decline into a fifth consecutive day.

Declining issues led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by a small margin.

Analysts said concern over the situation in the Mideast and Watergate were major factors in the softness, as well as worries over a possible economic downturn. The government recently reported a downturn in new factory orders for September.

Profit taking was another factor, brokers said, noting that despite the sharp declines of this week, the Dow Jones industrial average had risen some 133 points from its August lows to its highs of last Friday.

On Thursday, the Dow fell 7.75 to 948.83, bringing the indicator's decline so far this week to over 38 points.

PLANT CLOSED — Financial difficulties have forced the closing of Dinkler Plastics, Inc., Jeffersonville. The plant had employed approximately 40 persons. President Charles Dinkler is pictured outside the building.

Seek to reopen Jeff plant

JEFFERSONVILLE — Dinkler Plastics, Inc., located in Jeffersonville the past 2½ years, has been closed because of financial difficulties since Sept. 10.

Charles Dinkler, president, met with members of the Jeffersonville Chamber of Commerce Thursday concerning an effort that is being made to continue operations at the plant.

The Ohio Economic Development Agency, Columbus, had contacted Gordon McCarty, president of the Jeffersonville Chamber of Commerce, and informed him that funds would be available with the support of area banking institutions and the Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber members agreed that an effort should be made to keep the plastics plant in operation since it employed approximately 36-40 persons from the Jeffersonville area.

The custom injection molding plant is located at the southeast corner of Boyer Lane and Ohio 41, just north of the village.

Dinkler Plastics started production in April of 1968 in the old Stewart and Cross Hardware Co. garage at New Holland. When the factory opened it had a total employment of nine persons.

Dinkler Plastics produced all types of injection molded parts, and had finishing facilities for the plastics industries.

Dinkler is a native of New Holland and has been associated with the plastics industry for 15 years. He left the position of head tooling engineer for American Plastics, a division of Swedish Crucible Steel in Detroit, to form and become president of Dinkler Plastics.

A well located at the plastics factory supplied water to residents of Jeffersonville for more than eight days during a recent water shortage crisis.

Criminal costs money received

Fayette County received a total of $939.66 in criminal costs subsidies during fiscal 1973, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson announced today.

The state pays on a monthly basis for the successful prosecution and imprisonment of indigent persons convicted of felony crimes under the criminal cost subsidy program. The money is appropriated by the legislature to the auditor's office for this purpose.

Other surrounding counties and their payments were Clinton, $1,686.45; Greene, $19,270.53; Highland, $1,803.10; Madison, $4,700.42; Pickaway, $5,662.35, and Ross, $11,016.57.

Gilligan maintains neutrality

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan refused to pose for a photograph with Senate hopeful Howard M. Metzenbaum at a campaign luncheon Thursday, but apparently there were no hard feelings.

Gilligan said he was trying to steer a neutral course in the selection of a replacement for Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who was nominated to become U.S. attorney general Thursday.

Metzenbaum is regarded as the front-runner for the seat, but other candidates, including former astronaut John Glenn Jr., also have expressed interest.

Metzenbaum and Gilligan bumped into each other at a campaign luncheon for Cleveland mayoral candidate Mercedes Cotner, also a Democrat. Metzenbaum left a few minutes after Gilligan declined an invitation to pose together.

Later he confided he left "because I did not want to embarrass the governor."

Gilligan said he refused the photographer because "I just don't want speculation to begin he is my choice." But he said he wasn't angry. "I'm not irritated at anyone," he said.

Glenn still set to run

WILLOUGHBY HILLS, Ohio (AP)— Former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. says he will be a candidate for the U.S. Senate next year regardless of whether he is appointed to succeed Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio.

"I feel I could beat the incumbent," he said.

Opinion And Comment

It's hard to explain

Reports over the past few weeks have provided one of the more intriguing chapters in the Unidentified Flying Object saga. Stories about alleged UFO sightings generally tend to be somewhat vague. Some of the current stories are, by contrast, quite explicit.

The most notable instance of this is the report from Pascagoula, Miss., where two shipyard workers claim that while fishing they not only saw a strange craft but were taken inside it and examined by its rather odd occupants. No fuzzy descriptions: it was, they say a blue, oblong craft which hovered over the water and disgorged three reddish creatures with claw-like appendages and wrinkled skin. It was these three who allegedly escorted the fishermen into the craft.

None of the other recent reports some of them emanating from Fayette County residents, is quite that well fleshed out with detail. Nor is there in other cases the sort of confirmatory evidence we have here - examination under hypnosis by two scientists. Still, quite a number of apparently sober people in various parts of the country have lately claimed sightings - not just flashes, but prolonged sightings - of things hard to explain away as natural phenomena or Flight 709 from Pittsburgh.

Various possibilities come to mind. Perhaps people's senses are simply deceiving them. Perhaps some of them are deliberately making up yarns. Perhaps subconscious reservoirs of imagination are being drawn upon.

Or perhaps - well, perhaps something inexplicable within our usual frames of reference is going on. That's the interesting thing about it: No one really knows.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by Bayard Rustin

Importance of Israel's survival

EDITOR'S NOTE: Columnist John P. Roche is traveling. Today's guest column is by Bayard Rustin, a distinguished leader of the civil rights movement and executive director of the Randolph Institute.

The renewal of the Middle East war, with its fearful human cost, has driven a knife wound deep into the soul of a world which longs for peace. Its reverberations, spreading like an exploding mortar shell, are felt around the globe by all who value justice and humanity. Most horrible is the waste of young lives—the best and bravest of the warring nations.

With the resumption of hostilities, there is a compelling impulse to blind oneself to the implications of this conflict. Many Americans have already succumbed to indifference or indecision: recent polls indicate that roughly one out of two either does not care about the outcome, or cannot summon the will to choose between the two sides.

Many blacks, confronted with profound injustice here at home, may wonder about the significance of a war which rages thousands of miles away. They ask how does the outcome of this distant conflict affect their weary, centuries-old struggle for freedom and equality?

But it is precisely because blacks have survived despite hundreds of years of oppression, and persist to day in the face of the continuing destructiveness of prejudice, that they cannot now turn away from other, equally oppressed peoples.

BOTH JEWS AND BLACKS respect and have a personal stake in the spread of democracy. Surrounded by the autocratic, despotic countries of the Middle East, Israel alone adheres to the democratic principles that are a precondition to freedom.

Israel, as a progressive and democratic nation, is the ultimate reflection of traditions which run throughout Jewish history and culture. Wherever Jews are, they stand firm for the extension of human rights for all people.

During the period following the end of Reconstruction, when America turned aside from the plight of the freedman,

Jews gave invaluable assistance to the Negro struggle. When the South was doing its best to keep the black man illiterate, the Rosenwald family established a fund which salvaged the Negro college system. And in the early years of this century, when the black cause was not a popular cause, Jewish liberals, like Joel and Arthur Spingarn, helped establish the NAACP and were instrumental in ensuring its survival during its most difficult years.

At a later era, Jews provided critical financial support for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. during his protest campaigns: two-thirds of the money donated to a defense fund—established when Dr. King was falsely accused of income tax evasion—were contributed by Jews. And who can forget that two Jewish youths, Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, died arm in arm with James Chaney in the backlands of Mississippi?

IN ADDITION to dramatizing the moral kinship between blacks and Jews, the Middle East crisis is important for what it implies about the lasting nature of prejudice.

Six million Jews were annihilated during World War II for no other reason than they were Jews. And yet this painful, tragic lesson has not been sufficient to convince mankind of racial and religious hatred. Today anti-Semitism persists in the hearts of many men and many countries, awaiting the opportunity to rise to the surface disguised as anti-Zionism.

Blacks well understand that where anti-Semitism exists, racial prejudice ultimately follows. Thus it is little surprising that the most determined opponent of American aid to Israel is Sen. J.W. Fulbright, who during a lengthy political career has voted against, and spoken against, and filibustered against the cause of civil rights.

Hardly anyone ever used the word environment, and only a few college professors knew what the word ecology meant. And children in a large family had their little wars and truces without ever realizing they were engaging anything so awesome-sounding as sibling rivalry.

Chief veterinarian studies horse deaths

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chief veterinarian for Ohio says the possibility of foul play in the deaths recently of seven horses in Stark County is being investigated.

Dr. Harry Goldstein said Thursday that laboratory tests "have practically eliminated the possibility of any infectious disease" as the cause.

He said lumps were found on the carcasses of the animals from "some sort of infection." But Goldstein said it hasn't been determined yet whether "malicious intent" is behind the deaths.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She's boiling over her husband's lunch break

DEAR ABBY: We just moved to a place that's close enough to my husband's job for him to come home for lunch every day, and that's my problem.

I don't want to sound like a selfish wife, but, Abby, having George home for lunch every day has upset my whole routine.

For years I've given my family (four school-age children) a good hot breakfast every morning, and I never saw them again until the kids came home from school, and George came home for supper. Now, here comes George home for lunch every day! It cuts in to my day something terrible. He's not the kind of man who can get his own lunch. I have to prepare it and serve it to him. (A little "snack" won't do for him. He likes a MEAL at noon.) Also, he gets amorous when we're home alone, but that's another letter.

I feel guilty just writing this, but I need some advice.

Should I come right out and tell George to buy his lunch?

DAY RUINED

DEAR RUINED: Tell George you married him for better or worse-but not for lunch. A lot of women would welcome your problem, but since you feel otherwise, honesty is still the best policy. So level with George, and hope for a fair compromise.

DEAR ABBY: About that Jewish girl who was selected to represent her county at a horse show, which happened to fall on the Jewish High Holy Days: Even if the girl can't participate on a Jewish holiday, why not let the horse participate with another rider? Surely the horse isn't Jewish. Half the team is better than none.

A.C. IN RIO RANCHO, N.M. DEAR A.C.: Maybe so, but another reader suggested that scheduling an important sports event on a Jewish holiday was thoughtless and inconsiderate. "In fact," he said, "it was downright UNCHRISTIAN!"

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law, who lives with us, told my husband that spotted eggs are not fit for human consumption, so now my husband insists that I go through dozens of cartons in the supermarket to make up a box that doesn't contain a spotted egg. If my mother in law finds a spotted egg, she disposes of it in the garbage.

I feel embarrassed rearranging cartons of eggs in the supermarket. Personally, I don't think there is anything wrong with spotted eggs, but would appreciate an expert's opinion.

H. IN AURORA DEAR H.: I am not eggactly an eggpert on this subject, but Dr. Hamre at the University of Minnesota is, and he said: "Spotted eggs are just as fit for human consumption as any other eggs." So, since the price of eggs these days is no "yoke," tell your mother in law she's mistaken.

DEAR ABBY: When I was growing up, a child who was born "prematurely," was referred to as a "love child"—and was usually prettier and smarter than the other children.

Moses Avenges a Wrong

And he spied an Egyptian smiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren . . . and he slew the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. — Exodus II: 11-12

For all of his life Moses acted as a defender of the underprivileged—a trait which was first revealed in his early youth. At that time, as he walked one day, seeking the companionship of his fellowmen and wishing, if possible, to lighten some of their burdens, he came upon an Egyptian who was beating a young Hebrew unmercifully. Understandably wroth, he slew the assailant and buried his body in the sand. The following day, coming upon two of his brethren who he learned were fellow conspirators of the Egyptian, he admonished them severely. They berated Moses, saying "Who made thee a judge over us?" then reported him to Pharaoh. Pharaoh ordered Moses slain but he fled the land.

The theme is "Love in Action" with the Scripture taken from I Corinthians 13:1-13.

Mrs. Arthur Stewart of the host church will be the leader, and she will be assisted by women from all Baptist churches in Fayette County.

The theme for devotions presented by Mrs. Robert Ritter was "Prayer is the Key to Heaven, and Faith Unlocks the Door." Mrs. VanDyke played "Sweet Hour of Prayer" during the silent prayer.

"Constant communion with God uplifts the spirit and brings all to a closer relationship with the Heavenly Father. Christians have the golden key and are privileged to use the key," said Mrs. Ritter. Mrs. Louis Null sang "Prayer is the Key to Heaven" accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Hoppes.

Maple Grove Society presented the program, with Mrs. Harold Craven in charge. Her theme was "She Shall be Called Woman." Miss Jacquie Craven read Scriptures referring to various women of the Bible. Pork output indicator still low

AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An economic indicator that shows how hog producers are getting along continues to hang below levels livestock experts say are necessary to stimulate the nation's pork output.

The indicator is the monthly hog-corn ratio computed by the Agriculture Department. As of Oct. 15, the ratio was 18.8 nationally, indicating the amount of corn in bushels equal in value to 100 pounds of live market hogs.

According to USDA livestock economists, the ratio traditionally has had to be at 20 or more for a sustained period before producers are encouraged to step up hog output.

Basically, the ideal situation is for corn to be relatively inexpensive and hog prices skyhigh — at least from the hog producer's viewpoint. There are many other factors, too, but the price relationship between market hogs and corn is a big one.

The old theories about the corn-hog ratio have not held up well the past year. For example, the ratio at Omaha, Neb., for the year beginning in June 1972 averaged more than the 20-to-1 level historically proclaimed by economists as a trigger for a big surge in hog production.

The ratio at Omaha has dropped below that in most months since last spring. That included a period when government price curbs were on retail and wholesale meat, and during a time of tremendous price fluctuation in the grain and feed markets.

A recent livestock and meat situation report noted the earlier corn-hog ratio running at the 20-to-1 level and commented:

"But instead of expansion, production has continued to decline in 1973, and only recently has there been indications of some stability. Thus, factors other than the relationship between hog and corn prices have become increasingly important considerations in producers' planning processes."

The ups and downs of hog prices since last summer have not helped restore confidence to hog producers who think hard about investing the large capital needed to expand a modern farrowing or feeding operation.

As of Oct. 15, the department said Wednesday, hog prices nationally averaged $40.80 per hundredweight. In any other past year that would mean visions of wealth to many hog producers.

But the October price was down sharply from the record high of $56.50 in August and from $43.80 in September. Corn dropped from $2.68 in August to $2.15 per bushel in September. But the October price, just as the new harvest was beginning to roll, was up slightly to $2.17 per bushel.

A year earlier, corn brought farmers $1.19 per bushel and hogs $27.40 per hundredweight.

Ohio Perspective

Solons skeptical of special meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Many if not most members of the legislature were skeptical about being called into special session to act on political campaign finance reforms.

One who didn't hesitate to say so, Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, said the session was prompted by scandals at the national level and not because of widespread abuse in Ohio.

"We're a reactionary legislature," Sweeney complained to members of the House State Government Committee which labored long and hard over a series of complex proposals.

A freshman member of the House, Rep. Tim McCormack, D-18 Cleveland, said he was concerned about public reaction to the special session. He feared, he said, that the public might see it as a move to placate the voters quickly as opposed to a slower, more studied approach to campaign reforms.

Republicans, as might have been expected, charged that the special session was called by Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan as a ploy to boost his campaign for re-election in 1974.

House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, was among those who said he was suspicious of Gilligan's move. He was "not completely convinced he wanted a bill," he said.

Others pointed out that Gilligan had nothing to lose, because even a legislative failure could be pointed to by him as an effort to reform campaign spending and contribution laws.

Gov. John J. Gilligan's office continues to receive calls about unidentified flying objects in the wake of his disclosure that he saw an amber-colored beam of light in the skies over Michigan recently.

He turned down an offer to appear on a nationwide television talk show. There were other calls from radio and television stations asking Gilligan to make tapes by telephone.

One more recent inquiry came from a flying saucer buff who wanted to know what the governor was doing to protect Ohioans from beings from outer space. Gilligan's smiling reply was that he was "patrolling the highways nightly" and would let the people know if anything turned up.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, let it be known he would like to see a law passed that would prevent state senators from running for other offices in the middle of their four-year terms.

VOTE FOR CITY COUNCIL

X FRED G. ROST

IF ELECTED AS MEMBER OF COUNCIL, CITY OF WASHINGTON C. H., I WOULD TRY TO PERFORM SUCH DUTIES AS FOLLOWS:

1. FREEZE CITY TAXES

If additional money is desired for city services, it is the right of the public to vote for any increase needed.

2. FREEZE CITY SPENDING

The city should live within its fixed income and I will oppose deficit spending. In other words, I would FREEZE CITY SPENDING for the present. Where inflationary or other emergencies occur... and it is necessary to consider additional income... I believe the citizens should have an opportunity to approve such increases after being completely informed of the facts.

3. KEEP WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE AN INDEPENDENT POLITICAL UNIT

I believe also, that we should engage in Local Planning for improvements and expansion of services and issues — and I believe further, that we should cooperate with nearby counties — BUT — I OPPOSE AFFILIATING WITH ANY COMPREHENSIVE AREA comprising a large city or a large county (such as "Mid-Ohio").

4. VOTE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE WISHES OF THE CITIZENS OF WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE

I would work with the other members of council toward the desires of the citizens — based on fact and need — and not on my own personal, individual opinions.

FRED ROST

Candidate for Member - City Council - Washington C. H.

Check charges aired

Four persons charged with check fraud appeared in Municipal Court Thursday before Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

Diana Tackett, 21, New Holland, was fined $50 and costs for cashing a $17.52 bogus check at Krogers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stanley, Ford Rd., were fined $150 and costs each for passing a bad check in the amount of $2.63 at Krogers. Judge Winegardner suspended $25 of each fine.

The charge of check fraud filed against Douglas H. Steele, 20, of 422 East St., was dismissed when the prosecuting witness failed to appear. The defendant agreed to pay the check and court costs.

Timothy A. Calentine, 18, of 363 Ely St., forfeited $50 bond when he failed to appear in court. He had been charged with the illegal discharge of firecrackers.

Lawrence L. Osborne, 25, of 619 Leesburg Ave., forfeited $25 bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle in a restricted area of the Deer Creek Wildlife Area.

A charge of throwing eggs filed against Jack Iles, 25, of 1134 E. Paint St., was dismissed at the request of the plaintiff. Iles had been arrested on a private warrant.

Two charged with theft of carpeting

Police Sgt. Virgil B. Harris investigated the theft of a red shag carpet from Redman Industries at 2000 Kenskill Ave., at Thursday afternoon. He spotted the carpet in a station wagon parked at the Friendly Corner tavern and apprehended James L. Sheldon, 44, and Glen Sheldon Jr., 50, both of Sabina, who were charged with grand larceny.

A box of miscellaneous tools is reported missing from a combine which was parked in the field of O. J. Ray farm; near Madison Mills.

Gary Depaugh, Mount Sterling, told the Sheriff's Department the theft had taken place between the late evening of Oct. 31 and early morning of Nov. 1.

A lost or stolen 17-month-old St. Bernard who answers to the name of "Gus" was reported to the Sheriff's Department by David Perry, of Bloomingburg, the dog's owner.

Perry stated Gus has been missing for over a week and has no license. He is red brown in color and has a white streak down the top of his head which ends in a black spot.

A CB antenna was pulled out of the roof of a car owned by William Knisley of 429 Blackstone St., sometime during Halloween night, police were told.

Jury scales down crash suit award

A jury of eight persons heard the evidence Wednesday in a damage suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Dolly M. Williamson, 111 N. Water St., against John P. Morgan, Milledgeville-Octa Rd.

The plaintiff had asked $95,750 damages in connection with an automobile accident which occurred on the Columbus Avenue at Blackstone Street in the fall of 1971. She contended that the defendant had negligently operated a motor vehicle, causing the accident. Her claim was based on hospital bills slightly in excess of $600, loss of earnings of $1,800, and permanent suffering and continued loss of wages.

The jury found the defendant liable, but agreed that $765.09 compensation was adequate. Judge Evelyn W. Coffman accepted their verdict and ordered that the defendant pay the plaintiff that sum.

Seated on the jury were Louis N. Baer, Ronald E. Duncan, Betty E. Jones, Beverly McMurray, Larry Pollock, Florence Harper, Pearl A. Provost and Fred James.

City firemen answer 2 calls

The Washington C. H. Fire Department responded to a call at 1:09 p.m., Thursday, which turned out to be a car which had caught fire.

Tom Stimson, 229 Hickory Lane, had been helping Jim Valentine, 361 Hickory Lane, work on his car at his residence.

When Stimson shorted out the selenoid in an attempt to start the engine, the gasoline on the engine and on the floor of the garage was ignited by the spark.

Firemen had no trouble subduing the flames with water. Damage was done to the car's wiring only.

Firemen responded to a call Wednesday concerning a bad gas leak and may have averted a tragedy.

Miss Dorothy Wallace, 821 E. Temple St., was told by firemen there was an abundance of carbon monoxide fumes in the air and she was cautioned to keep all gas off until the leaking lines were repaired.

Lions, MT in SCOL grid headliner

Record crowd eyed for tonight's fray

By MIKE FLYNN
It is ballyhooed as a grudge match of sorts, this football game tonight between unbeaten Washington C. H. and Miami Trace.

But, no matter what term is applied, it's difficult to find adjectives to describe the carnival atmosphere that accompanies the annual renewal of the mythical Fayette County football championship series.

SOME OBSERVERS feel a new attendance record will be established when a capacity crowd jams Miami Trace Field for the 13th anniversary of the intra-county showdown which will be tonight's (and this season's) South Central Ohio League feature attraction.

At least a chunk of this year's SCOL championship will be at stake for head coach Maurice Pfeifer's top-ranked Washington C. H. gang, while a Miami Trace win would throw the SCOL standings into a crowded three-way tie for the top perch.

Washington C. H. holds a slim 6-5 edge in the series and Miami Trace has posted two straight wins, but statistics are meaningless when the Blue Lions and Panthers start bucking headgear, especially when so much is at stake.

Defense is the strong suit for both teams.

The Washington C. H. defense, nicknamed the "Blue Wall," is nearly a legend in its own time by allowing only one touchdown in eight games after firing seven consecutive shutouts. However, Miami Trace's defense isn't a pushover, either. It is probably the prime reason for the Panthers' 5-3 all-games record and 3-1 showing inside the SCOL race.

While Washington C. H. and Miami Trace are determining the eventual outcome of the 46th SCOL sweepstakes in the 8 p.m. showdown, revived Hillsboro entertains Circleville, Madison Plains travels to Wilmington and Greenfield plays host to Oak Hill in a non-league rumble.

Hillsboro is riding the crest of a two-game win spree after scalping intra-county rival Greenfield and Madison Tigers. Defending champion Circleville, which ruined Washington C. H.'s scoreless string last Friday, has dropped three of its last four games and shows a 3-5 all-games record.

ALWAYS-TOUGH Wilmington will be searching for its third straight win when Madison Plains comes calling for an 8 p.m. appointment. The Hurryin' Hurricane shows a 5-3 overall record after beating Miami Trace and Cincinnati McNicholas. The only win for Madison Plains this fall was a 14-8 verdict over hapless Greenfield.

Greenfield continues its bid to end a painful eight-game nosedive when the Tigers entertain Oak Hill tonight. Greenfield and Oak Hill have similar teams that really almost mirror each other. Oak Hill is 1-7 this season.

The Tigers will also be hoping to improve the SCOL's record against non-league competition this year. The SCOL record is 9-17.

CHUCK WILSON

Lion whiz pads SCOL point lead

Chuck Wilson, Washington C.H.'s prize tailback, continues to cushion his lopsided South Central Ohio League scoring lead.

Wilson, a hard-running 181-pound senior, continued his bid for an unprecedented second straight SCOL scoring championship, racked up 14 more points in Washington C.H.'s 20-7 win over Circleville last Friday night and now has scored 134 points in eight outings.

The 134-point represents 12 more points than the Lion ace scored last season when he nudged Miami Trace's Tony Grooms for the scoring title.

Jackie Watson, Wilmington's speedy tailback, is second with 68 points, followed by Circleville's Eddy Richter with 54 points and Miami Trace junior quarterback Tom Riley with 53 points. Washington C.H. halfback Mark Johnson, and tight end Jay Mossbarger, of Miami Trace, are tied with 34 points each.

Tal Smith takes post with Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen years ago, Tal Smith walked into the office of Gabe Paul, who was then vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

"He said he wanted to get into baseball," recalled Paul. "I asked if he could take shorthand and he said he couldn't. I told him he ought to learn and that if he could, we might have a place for him."

Three months later, Smith returned. "I can take shorthand now," he announced.

Impressed with the young man's determination, Paul hired him as secretary for the Reds' farm department. "He was not a high priced man," said Paul.

"I got $350 a month after some haggling," said Smith.

Thursday, Paul hired Smith again, this time as executive vice president of the New York Yankees in a front office realignment. The price this time? "He's in the higher echelon of baseball executives now," said Paul, smiling.

Smith, 40, replaces General Manager Lee MacPhail in the Yankee hierarchy. But he did not inherit the GM title that MacPhail carried before being chosen the new American League President. "That's nomenclature," said Paul. "It's what you call somebody."

From now on, Paul, who had been called an administrative partner in the Yankee superstructure, will be called president. The No. 1 man remains George M. Steinbrenner III, who's still called general partner. Smith was listed third in the chain of command.

The folks in New Orleans, and particularly the Tulane football team, haven't forgotten "Fifth-down Fran."

But Fran Curci, now Kentucky's football coach, wishes they would before the 14th-ranked Tulane Green Wave plays his Wildcats on Saturday at Lexington, Ky.

Curci coached Miami, Fla., against Tulane last season when officials in the Orange Bowl lost track of the downs in the final minute of play. The Hurricanes were stopped four times but got the ball for a fifth down.

Miami used the extra down for a 24-yard touchdown pass for a 24-21 victory and Tulane football fans have been yelling foul ever since.

Tulane officials politely asked Miami to give up the victory. Miami officials politely refused.

"As far as I'm concerned that game with Tulane last year is history," says Curci, who shifted to Kentucky at the end of last season. "My players don't know a thing about the fifth down and I was hoping the people down there would have forgotten about it by now."

Curci's Wildcats, 3-4, will need all the help they can get against Tulane. The Greenies, off to their finest start since 1934, are gunning for their seventh victory in as many games.

The Miami Hurricanes, now coached by Pete Elliot, open this week's college football schedule with a game tonight against West Virginia.

On Saturday, seventh-ranked Louisiana State plays Mississippi in the second half of a national television doubleheader and the first half of a day-night twin bill at Mississippi Memorial Stadium in Jackson.

In the first half of the television doubleheader, Texas, which shares the No. 19 ranking with Auburn, plays at Southern Methodist.

In the second half of the Mississippi doubleheader, No. 2 Alabama plays Mississippi State.

In other Saturday day games, top-ranked Ohio State puts its perfect record on display against the surprising Illini, No. 3 Oklahoma entertains Big Eight rival Iowa State and fourth-ranked Michigan hosts Big Ten opponent Indiana.

Notre Dame, ranked fifth, is at home against Navy while No. 6 Penn State visits Maryland, No. 8 Arizona State

Also in the daytime, No. 11 Tennessee hosts Georgia; 12th-ranked Missouri entertains Kansas State; No. 13 Nebraska hosts 17th-ranked Colorado; No. 15 Texas Tech is at home against Southwest Conference rival Rice; 16th-ranked Miami, Ohio visits Western Michigan; and No. 19 Auburn hosts Florida.

Panther frosh end year with victory

The Miami Trace freshman team reeled off its sixth victory in a row Thursday by defeating a previously unbeaten and unscored upon East Clinton team 32-12.

The Panther frosh ended the season with six wins and no losses, but had one tie. The tie came in the first game of the season.

Miami Trace totalled 228 yards to 109 yards for East Clinton.

Coach Joe Henry reported that the entire team had come along way from the beginning of the season. "There should be some good football players reach the varsity ranks next year from this squad," Henry said.

DAN GIFFORD pounded out two touchdowns to lead the Panthers in the scoring department. Tom Everhart threw for one of the scores to Sam Grooms in the first quarter. Rex Coe also crossed the goal line once and Bill Warnock and Mike Crabtree scored the extra points on two occasions.

But the turning point in the game came on a tackle by Joe Black on an East Clinton runner in the end zone for a safety in the fourth quarter. Up until that point the game was fairly even.

The defense was the key to the Panthers' victory. Coe, Keith Haines and Steve Hendricks turned in fine performances.

On offense, all the running backs played a good game and the line showed signs of brilliance.

Rookie Ben Crenshaw owns Texas Open lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw, the most highly touted rookie since Jack Nicklaus hit the pro golf tour, held the lead but wasn't yet ready to start counting the winners' purse in the $125,000 Texas Open.

"It's a good start," the husky 21-year-old said Thursday after his blazing, six-under-par 65 gave him a one-stroke margin after one round of the chase for a $25,000 first prize.

"It's good to start with such a good

Austintown Fitch

seeks track victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Austintown Fitch is in a class by itself," said Ohio State track Coach Bob Epskamp, looking ahead to the 46th state high school cross country meet Saturday.

Epskamp doubles as the director for the two-mile meet on the OSU golf course.

round. I feel pretty confident. But there's three more rounds to play. That's a long way to go," he said.

"I'm not even going to start thinking about winning yet."

Crenshaw, a three-time national collegiate champion from the University of Texas, was making his first start since gaining his approved player's card as a full-fledged member of the pro tour.

Crenshaw ran in a monster putt—some 60 or 70 feet—for a share of the lead on the 17th hole then wedged to six feet and made the putt for a closing birdie that gave him the lead alone.

Bruce Fleisher, a former national amateur champion, and old pro Pete Brown, one of the few blacks on the tour, shared second with 66s.

Charles Coody, a former Masters champion and two-time winner in Great Britain this year, was alone with a 67 in the warm, mildly windy weather on the 6,990 yard, par 71 Woodlake Golf Club course.

Most of the game's great names—Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf—skipped this tournament, but the personable, hard-hitting Crenshaw filled the void very nicely.

Oldest NFL rivalry resumes Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — The oldest rivalry in the National Football League resumes this Sunday when the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers play for the 109th time.

There have been bloody battles galore in this historic series and the Bears hold a 55-47-6 edge over-all.

Last week's dismal picking was seven right, five wrong and one tie. That made the season percentage .674 for 58-28-5.

Chicago (2-5) at Green Bay (2-3-2) — Green Bay is favored by a touchdown. Since 1966 a trend has developed with Chicago losing four, winning one, losing four, winning one and losing four. BEARS 20, PACKERS 17.

Cleveland (4-2-1) at Minnesota (7-0) — The Vikings have to lose sometime, but not this time. VIKINGS 28, BROWNS 17.

Los Angeles (6-1) at Atlanta (4-3) — Los Angeles wasn't supposed to go as far as it has. After losing to Minnesota last week, this will be a good test of Chuck Knox's coaching ability. RAMS 24, FALCONS 21.

Buffalo (5-2) at New Orleans (3-4) — Who would have ever thought a couple of weeks ago that the Saints would be rated "pick em" by the oddsmakers. So, let's pick, SAINTS 28, BILLS 23.

Miami (6-1) at New York Jets (2-5) — Miami is a heavy favorite, as usual, and the Jets are still without Joe Namath. DOLPHINS 31, JETS 17.

Cincinnati (4-3) at Dallas (4-3) — The Cowboys have never lost to an American Football Conference team in regular season play and the oddsmakers may know something. So, COWBOYS 28, BENGALS 20.

Kansas City (3-3-1) at San Diego (1-5-1) — The lowly Chargers tied heavily favored Cleveland last week. Does that mean they're ready to upset Kansas City, which is favored by a mere six points. Don't bet on it. CHIEFS 24, CHARGERS 13.

New York Giants (1-5-1) at Oakland (4-2-1) — Ken Stabler appears to be coming into his own as Oakland quarterback. The Giants, meanwhile, didn't do any better by changing from Norm Snead to Randy Johnson at quarterback. RAIDERS 25, GIANTS 17.

Denver (3-3-1) at St. Louis (3-4) — Both Denver and St. Louis scored impressive victories last week but the Broncos are still in the running in the AFC West—or for a wild card spot. BRONCOS 21, CARDINALS 18.

New England (2-5) at Philadelphia (2-4-1) — Will success spoil the Philadelphia Eagles, who've actually won two games? Well, the Eagles may not be spoiled but they should win three games this season. EAGLES 27, PATRIOTS 20.

San Francisco (3-4) at Detroit (2-4-1) — Detroit finally did what they were supposed to last week and won. Is it asking too much for a repeat? The oddsmakers like the Lions, so why argue. LIONS 20, 49ERS 17.

Houston (0-7) at Baltimore (2-5) — This could be the only half-decent chance that the Oilers have to win this season. OILERS 21, COLTS 17.

Washington (5-2) at Pittsburgh (6-1) — Pittsburgh is favored by a mere one-point Monday night. But the favorites haven't been doing well on Monday nights and Terry Bradshaw is hurt. Besides, it's time for the Redskin offense to do something right. REDSKINS 23, STEELERS 21.

Unbeaten Wittenberg eyes OC grid crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wittenberg can become the first champion of the 1973 Ohio college football season Saturday.

A victory over visiting Heidelberg would give the unbeaten Tigers, seventh-ranked nationally among minor powers, at least a Red Division co-title in the Ohio Conference.

It also would thrust Wittenberg into the conference championship playoff game Nov. 17 against the Blue Division champion.

The game is one of 23 for Ohio teams this week, including top-ranked Ohio State's invasion of Illinois in a battle of Big Ten co-leaders.

The Buckeyes (6-0) and Wittenberg and Miami (both 7-0) are the only unbeaten and untied teams remaining in Ohio. Ohio State, Illinois and Michigan share the Big Ten lead with 4-0 records.

Miami, 16th ranked nationally, can seize the Mid-American Conference lead with its fourth straight league victory at Western Michigan. Kent State, tied with the Redskins in the MAC at 3-0, plays outside the conference against visiting Marshall.

Bowling Green goes to Ohio University, Toledo to Colorado State, Dayton to Xavier and Cincinnati entertains North Texas State in other major contests.

Bluffton can take a big step toward a second straight Hoosier-Buckeye Conference by winning at Hanover. The two share the H-BC lead with 4-1 records.

Host Hiram and John Carroll duel for the President's Conference lead. Hiram paces the league with a 4-0-0 mark. John Carroll is right behind at 3-0-2.

Muskingum, Otterbein and Ohio Wesleyan all try to stay in the running for the Ohio Conference's Blue Division title with leading Marietta, which plays at home against nonconference Anderson.

Browns go against tough Minnesota

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns shaky offensive unit will be up against one of the National Football League's toughest defenses Sunday when it takes the field against the undefeated Minnesota Vikings.

Minnesota maintained its status as the only undefeated NFL team Sunday by pulling out a 10-9 victory over the previously unbeaten Los Angeles Rams.

The Minnesota defense held the Rams to three field goals, while the San Diego Chargers were strong enough to halt the Browns with a 16-16 tie.

"The Vikings defense is as good as any we've seen this year," Browns Coach Nick Skorich said. "They're better than Pittsburgh because they've been playing together so long."

The Steelers shut out the Browns 33-0 several weeks ago.

"They have a premier tackle in the league in Alan Page," Skorich added.

The Vikings defense have held their opponents to six touchdowns in seven games.

Browns quarterback Mike Phipps is going to have to be exceptionally cautious when he throws the ball. The Vikings have a total of 10 interceptions and last week picked off two passes from one of the NFL's more poised field marshals — John Hadl.

Ohio Conference sets cross-country meet

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Mount Union and Baldwin-Wallace are the pre-meet favorites in the 39th annual Ohio Conference cross country meet Saturday at Wooster College.

Mount Union, whose string of six straight titles was snapped last fall by Denison, won the Ohio Conference Relays and finished first among college division squads in the All-Ohio meet.

Marietta has a 3-0 league mark to 1-1 records for the other three challengers.

Muskingum entertains Ohio Wesleyan and Otterbein is at home for Denison in a night game.

Elsewhere, Baldwin-Wallace is at Mount Union, Capital at Wooster, Wilmington at Kenyon, Case Western Reserve at Oberlin, Waynesburg at Ashland, Findlay at Taylor, Defiance at Ohio Northern, Central State at Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Indiana State at Akron and North Dakota State at Youngstown, the latter two contests at night.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Parkinsonism Can Be Alayed

A recent diagnosis of early Parkinson's disease was made after my uncle was examined at a hospital. We now know a little bit about the condition, but there are some things that concern us.

As this condition progresses, are the mind and the memory affected?

Is there any cure for Parkinson's?

Mr. T. A., Minn.

Dear Mr. A.: Parkinson's disease is also known as Paralysis Agitans. It is sometimes referred to as "shaking palsy."

It is a testimonial to your doctor that a diagnosis was made so early. Sometimes it is extremely difficult to recognize until it reaches a more advanced stage.

This disease of the central nervous system usually occurs late in life, but does occasionally happen to people even under 30.

One unusual type of Parkinson's disease is a complication of encephalitis, or brain infection. This is now less common because active treatment of these infections with antibiotics has reduced such after-effects of brain infection.

Most cases of Parkinson's disease are referred to as "idiopathic," which is the scientific way of saying, "We don't know the cause."

It must be impressed on everyone in contact with patients with Parkinsonism that there is no mental deficiency, retardation or mental disturbance associated with this condition.

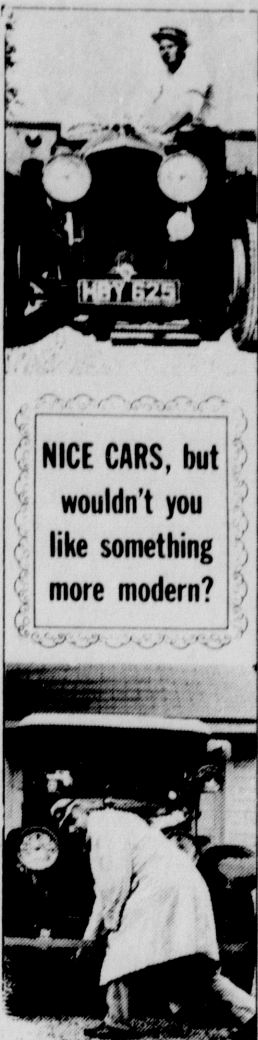

In advanced stages, the memory can be affected. The discovery of L-dopa has revolutionized the treatment for Parkinson's disease. Dramatic results have truly given these courageous people another chance at a happy and productive life.

Highly technical operations of the brain by cryosurgery have in some cases been remarkably successful using a probe that is frozen by nitrogen, a small portion of the brain thought to be responsible for Parkinsonism is destroyed.

Surgery by this technique is still being carefully investigated and assessed.

The future of people with early Parkinsonism no longer holds the terrible threat it once did.

The division of watercraft of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources says boaters should be familiar with the different types of marker buoys found on Ohio streams to distinguish navigational hazards, identify off-limits areas and provide special instructions.

THE BETTER HALF

By Barnes

"Most babies overcome their need for a 2 a.m. feeding long before they're 47 years old."

Four captured after wild chase

Police and Sheriff's departments participated in a wild chase through the streets of Washington C. H. in the early morning hours today.

It all began when Police Sgt. Charles M. Long clocked a car at 12:35 a.m., heading north on Columbus Avenue at 65 miles an hour and gave chase with red lights flashing.

The speeding car slowed and pulled into Blackstone Avenue.

Long got out of his cruiser and approached it on foot.

He looked at the driver, the driver look at Long, shoved the car into gear and "floored it." The chase was resumed.

The car sped north on Blackstone to Gregg Street, then headed west on Gregg Street, crashing stop signs at Lewis and Gregg and Delaware and Gregg at 70 miles an hour, the officer said.

Long, still in pursuit, chased the car north onto Pearl Street and into an alley off Forest Street, where it slid into a yard and came to a stop. Its four occupants fled on foot.

The Sheriff's Department, by this time, had been called and Deputies Terry L. Summers and Robert A. Russell noticed four persons walking east on Paint Street who matched the descriptions given for the occupants of the speeding car.

THE FOUR saw the sheriff's deputies and fled down an alley at the rear of Washington Junior High School. Summers and Russell pulled to a stop and gave chase on foot.

They were led into the courtyard where they found the driver, Jack Lee Anders, 23, of 110 W. Elm St.; Karen Spradlin and Janice Burnett, both of 1005 Millwood Ave. and David Acord of 120 Blackstone St., hiding in a pine tree.

Summers and Russell took the four to the police station on the request of Sgt. Long.

Anders was charged with driving without an operator's license, reckless operation, speeding and fleeing from a police officer.

The others involved were not held.

Union approves new three-year pact with DP&L

DAYTON — Members of Local 175, Utility Workers Union of America AFL-CIO, have approved a new three-year contract with The Dayton Power and Light Co. by a vote of 818 to 202.

The new agreement, which will become effective immediately, is within the federal government's Cost of Living Council's guidelines. Details were released jointly by Harold Moots, president of Local 175, and William H. Miller, manager of union relations for DP&L.

Here are the highlights:
On wages, employees will receive an average increase of 27 cents per hour the first year of the contract and an average increase of 29 cents the second year. Ten cents of the existing cost of living allowance will be rolled into the base rate in each year. In addition, in the first and second year there is a skills adjustment for those classifications of journeymen and above.

The third year, the agreement will be open for wage negotiations only.

Employees will receive four weeks vacation after 18 years of service in the first year of the contract. The second year they will have Good Friday as an additional holiday. In the third year they will receive four weeks vacation for 15 years of service.

Additional improvements were made in the shift premium for second and third shift work and in meal allowances. Also beginning with the third year of the contract the premium for Sunday work will increase from 15 to 20 per cent.

Port Clinton blast, fire investigated

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—The Ottawa County sheriff's department said the state fire marshal's office had been called in to investigate an explosion and fire that destroyed the MEK Chemical Co. plant near here Thursday evening.

No deaths or injuries were reported, although rescue workers poked through the rubble for several hours after the fire was extinguished.

Sheriff's dispatchers said they received calls after the explosion reporting that there were workers inside the building. But deputies said later the callers apparently confused the plant with others in the industrial park four miles west of Port Clinton.

Orientation Day at Laurel Oaks

WILMINGTON — Laurel Oaks Career Development Center will conduct a career orientation day starting at 9 a.m. Nov. 6 for prospective students, according to Jim Fleisher, student services supervisor.

Sophomores from Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties are invited to spend the day at the vocational school, touring the campus and seeing the many programs in operation. Students may spend more than an hour in the program area of their choice, observing classes in operation, talking with instructors and discussing job opportunities.

Approximately 800 students are expected to attend and more information can be obtained by contacting high school counselors.

Jeff Scouts to collect waste paper Saturday

JEFFERSONVILLE—The monthly paper drive by Scout Troop 67 here is scheduled for Saturday; old newspapers and magazines may be brought to the Scout Hall, opposite the Fire Department, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Scoutmaster Fred Doyle explained that experience has shown it is simpler for people to bring the paper to the Scout Hall than for the Scouts to try to pick it up because the troop does not have the necessary trucks and cars for the job.

WSHS students vote

John Morris, James Vess, Hugh Patton and Ralph Cook will be elected to serve on City Council, say the students of Washington Senior High School.

In a mock election held Thursday at the school, students voted on all the candidates and issues to appear on Tuesday's city ballot.

Senior government students, under the direction of Miss Helen Hutson, manned the voting booths and tallied the results.

Morris, who teaches driver education at the high school, was the largest vote-getter for Council with 175 votes. He was followed by Vess, 153; and Cook and Patton, who received 129 each. No other candidate received 100 votes.

Fred Domenico nosed out Phil Morrow for the most votes of the school board candidates, but with two to be elected, they both won comfortably over Mrs. Katherine Lee and John Wedgewood.

SCHOOL AND HEALTH levies were all passed as did the four state issues.

The school operating levy renewal carried by a 190-68 margin, while the additional millage was passed 163-103.

The .2 mill health levy received 171 votes with 101 opposed.

Issue 1, stating that farm land could be taxed according to its agricultural use rather than its market value, carried by a vote of 172-102.

Issue 2 proposes that Ohio residents be allowed to declare all dependants on their state income tax. At present no more than six dependants are allowed. The students voted 148 in favor; 122 opposed.

Issue 3, which would allow municipal judges to receive in-term raises and the legislature to consolidate county common pleas courts, was favored by a 176-105 margin.

Issue 4 proposes that $300 million, the entire anticipated revenue from the state lottery for the next 12 years, be given to Ohioans who served in the armed forces during the Vietnam conflict, even if they never left their home town. The students carried the measure by a 204-71 vote.
